NOTE

This volume contains the text of every Act assented to in 1996.

It also contains information that enables the reader to locate an Act, trace the stages which preceded its adoption by the National Assembly and discover some of its effects on existing legislation.

Each Act is preceded by an introductory page which contains, in addition to the chapter number and title of the Act, the number it had as a bill, the name of the person who introduced the bill, the date of each stage leading to adoption by the National Assembly and the date of assent, the date or dates of coming into force, so far as known on 1 March 1997 and a list of the Acts it amends.

The table of amendments contains a cumulative listing of the amendments made to the Revised Statutes of Québec, 1977 and to other public Acts, including the amendments made by the Acts of 1996. This is followed by a table of general amendments and a table of the corrections made for updating purposes, in accordance with the Act respecting the consolidation of the statutes and regulations (R.S.Q., chapter R-3), beginning in 1979.

The equivalence table lists the chapter number assigned, in the Revised Statutes of Québec, to the Acts adopted between the datings of 1 January 1996 and 1 January 1997.

The dates on which Acts or parts of Acts have come into force by proclamation or order since 1964, except those already indicated in the annual volume of statutes are given in a table followed by a list of the provisions which have not yet been brought into force by proclamation or order. Other tables list the letters patent issued in 1996 in respect of municipalities, whenever their publication is required by law.

The concordance table establishes the correspondence between the number assigned to a bill before it is assented to and the chapter number assigned to it as an Act in the annual volume of statutes.

Most of the information described above, except the alphabetical index which is found at the end of the volume, is contained in that part of the volume referred to as the yellow pages.

These special rules also apply to the recovery of a claim, irrespective of the amount in issue, in any matter concerning

(a) the sale price of movable property ;

(b) the price in a contract for services or of enterprise, other than a contract pertaining to an immovable work, if the value of the object of the dispute is more than $50,000, or in a contract of leasing or a contract of carriage ;

(c) claims related to a contract of employment, of lease, of deposit or of loan of money ;

(d) the remuneration of a mandatary, a surety or an office holder for services rendered ;

(e) bills of exchange, cheques, promissory notes or acknowledgements of debt ;

(f) taxes, rates and assessments imposed by or under any law of Québec.

“481.2 Either party to a proceeding introduced according to the provisions of this Title may request that the contestation and the proof and hearing be governed by the general rules of the ordinary procedure in first instance.

The court, on a motion, may order that the proceedings be continued according to the ordinary procedure if the complexity of the matter or special circumstances warrant it, or if there is a high risk that continuing the proceedings according to the simplified procedure would cause serious injury to one of the parties.

“481.3 Except as provided in this Title, such proceedings are governed by the general rules applicable to other proceedings under the provisions of Book II as they relate to the ordinary procedure in courts of first instance.

“CHAPTER II

“INTRODUCTION OF PROCEEDING

“481.4 A proceeding is introduced by a declaration prepared and signed by the plaintiff or his attorney; the content of the declaration, including the description of the parties, must conform to the provisions of articles 110 to 119.

The heading of the declaration must indicate that the proceeding is introduced according to the simplified procedure.

Copies of the exhibits presented in support of the demand, including expert reports, are attached to the declaration and served with it; any other exhibit a party wished to refer to at the hearing must be communicated and filed in the record in accordance with the provisions of Chapter I.1 of Title V of Book II.

“481.5 The plaintiff is required to file the original of the declaration and proof of its service in the office of the court within 30 days of the service.

“481.6 The defendant must appear within 10 days after service of the declaration, by filing in the office of the court a written appearance signed by him or by his attorney.

“CHAPTER III

“CONTESTATION

“481.7 Within 10 days after expiry of the time for appearance, the defendant must present together any demand for security, dilatory or declinatory exception or exception to dismiss the action which he intends to urge against the declaration.

The defendant must file his defence within 10 days of the judgment on such demand and preliminary exception; no appeal lies from such decisions, unless they terminate the proceedings or pertain to a question of jurisdiction.

“481.8 At any stage of the proceedings, special proceedings relating to production of evidence provided for in Chapter III of Title V of Book II must take place within the time limit prescribed in article 481.11, on pain of foreclosure.

“481.9 In all cases, the defendant must file his defence within 90 days after service of the declaration and notice.

“481.10 Issue is joined by the demand and the defence as well as the answer, if any.

A cross demand forms part of the defence and is subject to the same rules as the principal demand, unless the court decides that the proceeding is one which must be continued according to the general rules of the ordinary procedure in first instance.

“CHAPTER IV

“INSCRIPTION

“481.11 Inscription for proof and hearing must be effected not later than 180 days after service of the declaration and notice. Failing inscription within that time, the plaintiff is deemed to have discontinued his suit. Such time limit is imperative; it can be extended only if the party shows that it was impossible for him to act.

The clerk must refuse to receive or file in the record any inscription after expiry of such time limit.

“481.12 In the event of failure to appear or to plead to the merits within the time fixed, the case is inscribed forthwith for judgment by the clerk, or for proof and hearing before the court or the special clerk in accordance with articles 193, 194 and 195.

“481.13 As soon as issue is joined, inscription for proof and hearing before the court is effected forthwith by one of the parties and notice of such inscription must be served on the other parties.

“CHAPTER V

“PROOF AND HEARING

“481.14 The clerk, in cooperation with the chief justice or chief judge, keeps a roll for proceedings introduced according to the simplified procedure by way of a declaration.

Where the rules of practice provide for the issue of a certificate of readiness, a declaration of inscription on the roll for hearing must be filed not later than 30 days after the inscription for proof and hearing. The party to whom the declaration of inscription on the roll is served has 30 days in which to serve and file a declaration of inscription on the roll to the same effect, on pain of foreclosure.

The time within which exhibits must be communicated under article 331.8 is reduced from 60 to 30 days.

“481.15 The clerk fixes forthwith a date for proof and hearing in accordance with the rules of practice or according to the instructions of the chief justice or chief judge; he gives notice to the parties at least 30 days before the date fixed for the hearing.

“481.16 The time limit prescribed in article 465 for rendering judgment after the matter has been taken under advisement is reduced to four months.

The clerk must forward to the chief justice or chief judge a list of the matters that have been under advisement for more than three months.

“Other provisions

Granting of legal aid

“4.9 Legal aid shall be granted for the defense of a person facing contempt of court proceedings before a court where upon conviction there is likelihood either of imprisonment or committal to custody, or of loss of the person’s livelihood or where it is in the interests of justice that legal aid be granted to the accused, having regard to exceptional circumstances, for instance the seriousness of the matter or the complexity of the case.

Granting of legal aid

“4.10 Notwithstanding the provisions of this subdivision, legal aid shall be granted

(1) where

(a) a minor requires the assistance of an advocate for the purposes of an agreement pertaining to the application of voluntary measures under the Youth Protection Act;

(b) a young person requires the assistance of an advocate for the purposes of a program of alternative measures or the review of a disposition under the Young Offenders Act;

(3) to a person for the drawing up of a document that is customarily within the scope of the professional duties of a notary or advocate if such service is necessary because of the difficulty the person is having in preserving or asserting his rights or because of the harmful consequences for the person’s physical or psychological well-being or that of his family that would result from not being provided the service.

Refusal of legal aid

“4.11 In any matter other than a criminal or penal matter, legal aid may be refused or withdrawn, as the case may be, at any stage of the proceedings, where having regard to all the circumstances and from the standpoint of an ordinary advocate and client relationship, the case or remedy does not appear founded because

(1) the applicant cannot establish the probable existence of his right;

(2) the case or remedy clearly has very little chance of succeeding;

(3) the costs involved would be unreasonable in relation to the possible gain or loss for the applicant or recipient, as the case may be, unless the case or remedy threatens his livelihood or ability to provide for his essential needs or those of his family;

(4) the judgment or decision would probably not be susceptible of execution; or

(5) the applicant or recipient has, without valid cause, refused a reasonable proposal for settlement of the case.

Refusal

Moreover, legal aid shall be refused or withdrawn where the services for which legal aid is applied for can be obtained otherwise, particularly through another government service or another body, under an insurance contract or through a union or association, other than a non-profit association for the promotion and preservation of social rights, to which the applicant or recipient, as the case may be, belongs.

Granting of legal aid

“4.13 On the recommendation of the director general of a regional centre, the administrative committee of the Commission may grant legal aid to a person who cannot be the recipient of legal aid according to the other provisions of this subdivision and the regulations, if he considers that it is warranted by exceptional circumstances and that refusing to grant to the person legal aid would cause him irreparable harm. However, the administrative committee of the Commission may not grant legal aid under this section for services in respect of which it is provided in section 4.8 or 4.12 or in the regulations that no legal aid may be granted.

Administrative decision

The provisions of the first paragraph may apply, subject to the conditions fixed therein, to allow an applicant to establish his rights in a proceeding leading up to an administrative decision.

Exception

However, no such prohibition may apply to

Notice

In the case of contiguous zones, the description or illustration of their perimeter or indication of their approximate location may be that of their combined areas.

Zone

For the purposes of the first three paragraphs, a sector of a zone is considered to be a zone if, pursuant to the sixth paragraph of section 130, an application may originate from a sector of a zone.

“§ 2.1 — Adoption and approval of certain by-laws

Adoption

“134. Once the public hearing provided for in section 125 has been held, the council of the municipality shall adopt, with or without change, the by-law adopted in draft form under section 124.

Prohibition

The by-law may not contain any provision making it a by-law subject to approval by way of referendum.

Applicability

The first two paragraphs do not apply if the council has been required to adopt a second draft by-law under section 128. However, even if the council adopts a second draft by-law containing provisions making it a by-law subject to approval by way of referendum that relate to matters in respect of which such provisions were included in the draft by-law provided for in section 124, the council may adopt a by-law containing only provisions not making the by-law a by-law subject to approval by way of referendum that relate to matters in respect of which provisions were included in the latter draft by-law.

Adoption

“135. Where no valid application has been received in respect of a second draft by-law, the council of the municipality shall adopt that draft by-law without change.

Adoption

In all other cases, the council shall adopt, besides a separate by-law under section 136, if any, a by-law containing the provisions of the second draft by-law in respect of which no valid application has been received. The council may only make changes required by reason of the withdrawal, from the by-law, of the provisions in respect of which valid applications have been received.

Second draft
by-law

“136. In cases where a valid application has been received in respect of a provision of the second draft by-law, that provision may only be contained in a by-law that is separate from that referred to in the second paragraph of section 135 and, subject to section 137, separate from any other by-law containing another provision in respect of which a valid application has been made.

Adoption

The council of the municipality shall adopt such separate by-laws without any change, as compared to the equivalent part of the second draft by-law, other than a change required by reason of the withdrawal, from the by-law, of the provisions contained in the by-law provided for in the second paragraph of section 135 and of any other provisions in respect of which a valid application has been made.

Separate provision

For the purposes of the first two paragraphs, where the provision in respect of which the application is made applies to more than one zone, that provision, except where it amends the classification of structures and uses, is deemed to constitute a separate provision applying separately to each zone. For the purposes of this paragraph, a sector of a zone is considered to be a zone if, under the sixth paragraph of section 130, an application may originate from a sector.

Governmental policies

75. For the purposes of the third paragraph of section 58.4 of the Act respecting the preservation of agricultural land and agricultural activities, enacted by section 35 of this Act, a regional county municipality, from the coming into force of this section until the date of coming into force of the development plan, must, when it makes a recommendation to the Commission de protection du territoire agricole, take into account the governmental policies referred to in section 56.4 of the Act respecting land use planning and development, enacted by section 66 of this Act.

Development plan

76. The provisions of subparagraph 2.1 of the first paragraph and those of the third paragraph of section 5 of the Act respecting land use planning and development, enacted by section 65 of this Act, shall not operate to require a regional county municipality to amend a development plan in force on (insert here the date of coming into force of section 65 of this Act).

committee to submit its report if the committee has failed to do so within such period.

"DIVISION XIII.1

"PROTECTION AGAINST CERTAIN FINANCIAL LOSSES RELATED TO THE PERFORMANCE OF MUNICIPAL DUTIES

Duties

"604.6 A municipality shall

(1) assume the defence of a person whose election as member of the council of a municipality is contested or who is the defendant or respondent in judicial proceedings brought before a court by reason of the person's alleged disqualification for office as a member of the council or as an officer or employee of the municipality or a mandatory body of the municipality;

(2) assume the defence or the representation, as the case may be, of a person who is the defendant, respondent or accused, or the person impleaded in judicial proceedings brought before a court by reason of the person's alleged act or omission in the performance of his duties as a member of the council or as an officer or employee of the municipality or a mandatory body of the municipality.

Costs

Where the person assumes, himself or through an attorney of his choice, the defence or representation, the municipality shall pay any reasonable costs incurred therefor. However, the municipality may, with the consent of the person, reimburse such costs to him instead of paying them.

Exemption

The municipality is exempt from the obligations set out in the first two paragraphs, in a particular case, if the person renounces in writing, in respect of that case, the application of those provisions.

Interpretation

For the purposes of this division,

"mandatory body"

(1) "mandatory body" means any body declared by law to be the mandatory or agent of the municipality and any body whose council is composed of a majority of members of the council of the municipality, whose budget is adopted by the municipality or more than half of the financing of which is assumed by the municipality;

"court"

(2) "court" means, in addition to its ordinary meaning, a coroner, a fire investigation commissioner, an inquiry commission or a person or body exercising quasi-judicial functions.

Reimbursement

"604.7 The person for whom the municipality is required to incur expenses under section 604.6 shall, at the request of the municipality, reimburse all the expenses or the portion of such expenses indicated in the request in any of the following cases:

(1) the person's alleged act or omission having given rise to the proceedings is a gross or intentional fault or a fault separable from the performance of his duties;

(2) the proceedings are brought before the court by the municipality or by a third person at the request of the municipality;

(3) the person, defendant or accused in the penal or criminal proceedings, has been convicted and had no reasonable grounds to believe that he acted within the law.

Cessation of
reimbursement

In addition, where the municipality incurs the expenses referred to in the first paragraph in reimbursing the expenses relating to the person's defence or representation assumed by the person himself or by an attorney of his choice, the municipality's obligation shall cease, in respect of all expenses not reimbursed or the portion of such expenses which the municipality may indicate, from the day on which it is established, by the person's own admission or by a judgment that has become res judicata, that the request for reimbursement provided for in the first paragraph or the cessation of reimbursement provided for in this paragraph is justified.

Applicability

The first and second paragraphs apply where the municipality is justified in requiring the reimbursement provided for in the first paragraph or, as the case may be, in ceasing to make reimbursements under the second paragraph.

Objectives

"604.8 For the purpose of determining whether the justification provided for in the third paragraph of section 604.7 exists, the following objectives shall be considered and weighed one against the other:

(1) the person referred to in section 604.6 must be reasonably protected against any financial loss which may result from the performance of his duties;

(2) the monies of the municipality must not be used to protect such a person against financial losses resulting from misconduct which cannot possibly be compared with the errors that may reasonably be expected to be committed by a person performing similar duties.

Objectives

For the purposes of the first paragraph, the good or bad faith of the person may be taken into account as well as his diligence or negligence in learning the rules and practices relevant to the performance of his duties, the existence or absence of any previous fault related to the performance of his duties, the simplicity or complexity of the circumstances in which he committed a fault, the good or poor quality of the advice given to him and any other relevant factor.

Contestation

“604.9 Where the municipality’s right to obtain the reimbursement requested under the first paragraph of section 604.7 is contested, section 604.6, adapted as required, applies in respect of any judicial recourse exercised by the municipality in order to obtain such reimbursement.

Court ruling

The court before which the recourse is exercised shall rule also on the applicability of section 604.7 in respect of all or part of the expenses to be incurred by the municipality for the purposes of the first paragraph of this section, as if the grounds for the recourse were the same as those for the original proceedings referred to in section 604.6.

Court ruling

The court before which the original proceedings referred to in section 604.6 are brought, in the case of a court of justice and civil proceedings, may, at the request of the municipality, rule on the applicability of section 604.7 in respect of such proceedings. Where the municipality is not already a party to or impleaded in the proceedings, it may intervene in order to make and support the request.

Damages

“604.10 Every municipality shall pay damages owing to a third person which result from the fault of a member of its council in the performance of his duties within the municipality or a mandatory body of the municipality, except in the case of a gross or intentional fault or a fault separable from the performance of such duties, or where the member, without the authorization of the municipality, admits his fault or assumes his defence or representation, during the proceedings in which his fault is proved, himself or through an attorney of his choice.

Fault

The first paragraph may not be used to establish the fault of a municipality or a mandatory body.

Indemnity

“604.11 Any municipality may, by by-law, provide for the payment of an indemnity, on application, to any person who has suffered material loss in the performance of his duties as a council member, officer or employee of the municipality or a mandatory body of the municipality.

By-law

The by-law must specify the circumstances giving rise to the payment of the indemnity, the amount of the indemnity or the manner of computing that amount, and the time limit for filing an application.

Payment

The payment of every indemnity must be decided by the council.

Benefit

“604.12 Any benefit provided by a municipality to or in respect of a person under a provision of this division in the period throughout which the person is a member of the council of the municipality, or the provision of which is the subject of an application, deliberation or vote during that period is a condition of employment related to the office of council member for the purposes of sections 304, 305, 361 and 362 of the Act respecting elections and referendums in municipalities (chapter E-2.2).

Presumption

For the purposes of any provision relating to the disqualification for office as an officer or employee of a municipality, a benefit referred to in the first paragraph is deemed to be provided for by the contract binding the municipality and the officer or employee to or in respect of whom the benefit is provided.

Prevailing provision

“604.13 Where a provision of a by-law, resolution, contract or collective agreement provides for a benefit that is not as advantageous to the person to or in respect of whom it is provided as the benefit provided for in a provision of this division, the latter provision shall prevail.

Applicability

“604.14 This division applies to every municipality governed by this Act and to Ville de Montréal and Ville de Québec.”

“TITLE XVIII.2

“PROTECTION AGAINST CERTAIN FINANCIAL LOSSES RELATED TO THE PERFORMANCE OF MUNICIPAL DUTIES

“711.19.1 A municipality shall

(1) assume the defence of a person whose election as member of the council of a municipality is contested or who is the defendant or respondent in judicial proceedings brought before a court by reason of the person’s alleged disqualification for office as a member of the council or as an officer or employee of the municipality or a mandatory body of the municipality;

(2) assume the defence or the representation, as the case may be, of a person who is the defendant, respondent or accused, or the person impleaded in judicial proceedings brought before a court by reason of the person’s alleged act or omission in the performance of his duties as a member of the council or as an officer or employee of the municipality or a mandatory body of the municipality.

Where the person assumes, himself or through an attorney of his choice, the defence or representation, the municipality shall pay any reasonable costs incurred therefor. However, the municipality may, with the consent of the person, reimburse such costs to him instead of paying them.

The municipality is exempt from the obligations set out in the first two paragraphs, in a particular case, if the person renounces in writing, in respect of that case, the application of those provisions.

For the purposes of this Title,

(1) “mandatory body” means any body declared by law to be the mandatory or agent of the municipality and any body whose council is composed of a majority of members of the council of the municipality, whose budget is adopted by the municipality or more than half of the financing of which is assumed by the municipality;

(2) “court” means, in addition to its ordinary meaning, a coroner, a fire investigation commissioner, an inquiry commission or a person or body exercising quasi-judicial functions.

“711.19.2 The person for whom the municipality is required to incur expenses under article 711.19.1 shall, at the request of the municipality, reimburse all the expenses or the portion of such expenses indicated in the request in any of the following cases:

(1) the person’s alleged act or omission having given rise to the proceedings is a gross or intentional fault or a fault separable from the performance of his duties;

(2) the proceedings are brought before the court by the municipality or by a third person at the request of the municipality;

(3) the person, defendant or accused in the penal or criminal proceedings, has been convicted and had no reasonable grounds to believe that he acted within the law.

In addition, where the municipality incurs the expenses referred to in the first paragraph in reimbursing the expenses relating to the person’s defence or representation assumed by the person himself or by an attorney of his choice, the municipality’s obligation shall cease, in respect of all expenses not reimbursed or the portion of such expenses which the municipality may indicate, from the day on which it is established, by the person's own admission or by a judgment that has become res judicata, that the request for reimbursement provided for in the first paragraph or the cessation of reimbursement provided for in this paragraph is justified.

The first and second paragraphs apply where the municipality is justified in requiring the reimbursement provided for in the first paragraph or, as the case may be, in ceasing to make reimbursements pursuant to the second paragraph.

“711.19.3 For the purpose of determining whether the justification provided for in the third paragraph of article 711.19.2 exists, the following objectives shall be considered and weighed one against the other:

(1) the person referred to in article 711.19.1 must be reasonably protected against any financial loss which may result from the performance of his duties;

(2) the monies of the municipality must not be used to protect such a person against financial losses resulting from misconduct which cannot possibly be compared with the errors that may reasonably be expected to be committed by a person performing similar duties.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, the good or bad faith of the person may be taken into account as well as his diligence or negligence in learning the rules and practices relevant to the performance of his duties, the existence or absence of any previous fault related to the performance of his duties, the simplicity or complexity of the circumstances in which he committed a fault, the good or poor quality of the advice given to him and any other relevant factor.

“711.19.4 Where the municipality's right to obtain the reimbursement requested under the first paragraph of article 711.19.2 is contested, article 711.19.1, adapted as required, applies in respect of any judicial recourse exercised by the municipality in order to obtain such reimbursement.

The court before which the recourse is exercised shall rule also on the applicability of article 711.19.2 in respect of all or part of the expenses to be incurred by the municipality for the purposes of the first paragraph of this article, as if the grounds for the recourse were the same as those for the original proceedings referred to in article 711.19.1.

The court before which the original proceedings referred to in article 711.19.1 are brought, in the case of a court of justice and civil proceedings, may, at the request of the municipality, rule on the applicability of article 711.19.2 in respect of such proceedings. Where the municipality is not already a party to or impleaded in the proceedings, it may intervene in order to make and support the request.

“711.19.5 Every municipality shall pay damages owing to a third person which result from the fault of a member of its council in the performance of his duties within the municipality or a mandatory body of the municipality, except in the case of a gross or intentional fault or a fault separable from the performance of such duties, or where the member, without the authorization of the municipality, admits his fault or assumes his defence or representation, during the proceedings in which his fault is proved, himself or through an attorney of his choice.

The first paragraph may not be used to establish the fault of a municipality or a mandatory body.

“711.19.6 Any municipality may, by by-law, provide for the payment of an indemnity, on application, to any person who has suffered material loss in the performance of his duties as a member of the council, officer or employee of the municipality or a mandatory body of the municipality.

The by-law must specify the circumstances giving rise to the payment of the indemnity, the amount of the indemnity or the manner of computing that amount, and the time limit for filing an application.

The payment of every indemnity must be decided by the council.

“711.19.7 Any benefit provided by a municipality to or in respect of a person under a provision of this Title in the period throughout which the person is a member of the council of the municipality, or the provision of which is the subject of an application, deliberation or vote during that period is a condition of employment related to the office of member of the council for the purposes of sections 304, 305, 361 and 362 of the Act respecting elections and referendums in municipalities (chapter E-2.2).

For the purposes of any provision relating to the disqualification for office as an officer or employee of a municipality, a benefit referred to in the first paragraph is deemed to be provided for by the contract binding the municipality and the officer or employee to or in respect of whom the benefit is provided.

“711.19.3 Where a provision of a by-law, resolution, contract or collective agreement provides for a benefit that is not as advantageous to the person to or in respect of whom it is provided as the benefit provided for in a provision of this Title, the latter provision shall prevail.”

BASIC PLAN COVERAGE

DIVISION I

ELIGIBILITY

Classes of persons not covered

6. The classes of persons determined by government regulation who are otherwise entitled to coverage under another Act of Québec, an Act of the Parliament of Canada or the laws of another province of Canada or another country or under a program administered by a government or by a government department or agency that is determined by government regulation to be at least equivalent to the coverage of the basic plan, are not covered by the basic plan.

DIVISION II

COVERAGE

Basic plan

7. The basic plan provides coverage to every eligible person for the cost of pharmaceutical services and medications provided in Québec, to the extent provided for in this Act, regardless of the risk associated with that person's state of health.

Coverage

8. Coverage under the basic plan includes, to the extent provided for by this Act, the services required to fill or renew a prescription and the medications entered on the list of medications drawn up by the Minister under section 60, when provided in Québec by a pharmacist on the prescription of a physician, a medical resident or a dentist. Certain medications on the list, specified by government regulation, shall be covered only in the cases, on the conditions and for the therapeutic indications determined in the regulation.

Coverage

The same coverage applies when a person obtains medications in a pharmacy outside Québec from a person legally authorized to practise as a pharmacist in the place concerned and with whom the Board has entered into an individual agreement for that purpose, if the pharmacy is situated in a region bordering on Québec and if no pharmacy situated in Québec within a radius of 32 kilometres of that pharmacy provides services to the public.

Coverage

In addition, coverage includes, in the cases and on the conditions and for the classes of persons determined by government regulation, the medications specified in the regulation that are provided as part of the services provided by an institution within the meaning of the Act respecting health services and social services (R.S.Q., chapter S-4.2) or the Act respecting health services and social services for Cree Native persons (R.S.Q., chapter S-5) or any other institution recognized for that purpose by the Minister that is situated outside Québec in a region bordering on Québec.

Coverage

9. Coverage under the basic plan does not include the cost of pharmaceutical services and medications that an eligible person may obtain, and to which that person is otherwise entitled, pursuant to an Act of Québec, an Act of the Parliament of Canada or the laws of another province of Canada or another country, or under a program administered by a government or by a government department or agency.

DIVISION III

FINANCIAL PARTICIPATION

Annual premium or assessment

10. Unless exempted by the Act, an eligible person must pay any applicable annual premium or assessment.

Contribution

11. A person may be required to make a contribution towards the payment of the cost of the pharmaceutical services and medications provided each time a prescription is filled or renewed, until the maximum contribution for the reference period is reached. The contribution may consist of a deductible amount and a co-insurance payment.

Maximum contribution

“CAPITAL GAINS REDUCTION

Definitions

“251.1 In this chapter,

“exempt capital
gains balance”

“exempt capital gains balance” of an individual for a taxation year that ends before 1 January 2005 in respect of a flow-through entity means the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B - C;$$

“flow-through entity”

“flow-through entity” means

(a) a mutual fund trust;

(b) a segregated fund trust referred to in section 851.2;

(c) a trust all or substantially all of the properties of which consist of shares of the capital stock of a corporation, where the trust was established pursuant to an agreement between two or more shareholders of the corporation and one of the main purposes of the trust is to provide for the exercise of voting rights in respect of those shares pursuant to that agreement;

(d) a trust established exclusively for the benefit of one or more persons each of whom was, at the time the trust was created, either a person from whom the trust received property or a creditor of that person, where one of the main purposes of the trust is to secure the payments required to be made by or on behalf of that person to such creditor;

(e) a trust maintained primarily for the benefit of employees of a corporation or two or more corporations that do not deal at arm's length with each other, where one of the main purposes of the trust is to hold interests in shares of the capital stock of the corporation or corporations, as the case may be, or any corporation not dealing at arm's length therewith;

(f) a trust governed by a profit sharing plan;

(g) a partnership;

(h) an investment corporation;

(i) a mortgage investment corporation; and

(j) a mutual fund corporation.

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formula in the definition of “exempt capital gains balance” in the first paragraph,

(a) A is

i. if the entity is a trust referred to in any of paragraphs b to f of the definition of “flow-through entity” in the first paragraph, the amount determined under subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 726.9.2 in respect of the individual’s interest or interests therein, and

ii. in any other case, the lesser of

(1) $\frac{4}{3}$ of the aggregate of the taxable capital gains that resulted from elections made under section 726.9.2 in respect of the individual’s interests in or shares of the capital stock of the entity, and

(2) the amount that would be determined under subparagraph 1 if this Act were read without reference to section 726.9.3 and the amount designated in the election in respect of each interest or share were equal to the amount by which the fair market value of the interest or share at the end of 22 February 1994 exceeds the portion of the amount designated in the election in respect of that interest or share that exceeds $\frac{11}{10}$ of its fair market value at that time;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which the individual’s capital gain for a preceding taxation year, determined without reference to section 251.2, from the disposition of an interest in or a share of the capital stock of the entity was reduced under that section; and

(c) C is

i. if the entity is a trust described in any of paragraphs a and c to e of the definition of “flow-through entity” in the first paragraph, $\frac{4}{3}$ of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which the individual’s taxable capital gain otherwise determined for a preceding taxation year that resulted from a designation made under section 668 by the trust was reduced under section 251.3,

ii. if the entity is a partnership, $\frac{4}{3}$ of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

(1) the amount by which the individual’s share otherwise determined of the partnership’s taxable capital gains for its fiscal period that ended in a preceding taxation year was reduced under section 251.4, or

(2) the amount by which the individual's share otherwise determined of the partnership's income from a business for its fiscal period that ended in a preceding taxation year was reduced under section 251.5, and

iii. in any other case, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which the aggregate of the individual's capital gains otherwise determined under sections 851.16, 851.21, 860, 1106, 1113 and 1116 for a preceding taxation year in respect of the entity was reduced under section 251.6.

Reduction of an individual's capital gain

"251.2 Where at any time after 22 February 1994 an individual disposes of an interest in or a share of the capital stock of a flow-through entity, the individual's capital gain otherwise determined for a taxation year from the disposition shall be reduced by such amount as the individual claims, not exceeding the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B - C.$$

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the exempt capital gains balance of the individual for the year in respect of the entity;

(b) B is

i. if the entity made a designation under section 668 in respect of the individual for the year, $\frac{4}{3}$ of the amount claimed under section 251.3 by the individual for the year in respect of the entity,

ii. if the entity is a partnership, $\frac{4}{3}$ of the aggregate of the amounts claimed under sections 251.4 and 251.5 by the individual for the year in respect of the entity, and

iii. in any other case, the amount claimed under section 251.6 by the individual for the year in respect of the entity; and

(c) C is the aggregate of all reductions under this section in the individual's capital gains otherwise determined for the year from the disposition of other interests in or shares of the capital stock of the entity.

Reduction of an individual's taxable capital gain

"251.3 The taxable capital gain otherwise determined under section 668 of an individual for a taxation year as a result of a designation made under that section by a flow-through entity shall be reduced by such amount as the individual claims, not exceeding 3/4 of the individual's exempt capital gains balance for the year in respect of the entity.

Reduction in an individual's share of a partnership's taxable capital gains

"251.4 An individual's share otherwise determined for a taxation year of a taxable capital gain of a partnership from the disposition of a property, other than property acquired by the partnership after 22 February 1994 in a transfer to which the second paragraph of section 614 applied, for its fiscal period that ends in the year and after 22 February 1994 shall be reduced by such amount as the individual claims, not exceeding the amount by which 3/4 of the individual's exempt capital gains balance for the year in respect of the partnership exceeds the aggregate of all amounts claimed by the individual under this section in respect of other taxable capital gains of the partnership for that fiscal period.

Reduction in an individual's share of a partnership's income from a business

"251.5 An individual's share otherwise determined for a taxation year of the income of a partnership from a business for the partnership's fiscal period that ends in the year and the individual's share of the partnership's taxable capital gain arising under subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 105 shall be reduced by such amount as the individual claims, not exceeding the lesser of

(a) the amount by which 3/4 of the individual's exempt capital gains balance for the year in respect of the partnership exceeds the aggregate of

i. the amount claimed under section 251.4 by the individual for the year in respect of the partnership, and

ii. all amounts claimed under this section by the individual for the year in respect of other businesses of the partnership; and

(b) the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}.$$

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formula in subparagraph b of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount included under subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 105 in computing the income of the partnership from the business for the fiscal period;

(b) B is the amount that would otherwise be the individual's share of the partnership's income from the business for the fiscal period; and

(c) C is the partnership's income from the business for the fiscal period.

Reduction of an individual's capital gains

"251.6 The aggregate of capital gains otherwise determined under sections 851.16, 851.21, 860, 1106, 1113 and 1116 of an individual for a taxation year as a result of one or more elections, allocations or designations made after 22 February 1994 by a flow-through entity shall be reduced by such amount as the individual claims, not exceeding the individual's exempt capital gains balance for the year in respect of the entity.

Nil exempt capital gains balance

"251.7 Notwithstanding section 251.1, where at any time an individual ceases to be a member or shareholder of, or a beneficiary under, a flow-through entity, the exempt capital gains balance of the individual in respect of the entity for each taxation year that begins after that time is deemed to be nil."

(2) Subsection 1 applies from the taxation year 1994. However, where the definition of "flow-through entity" in the first paragraph of section 251.1 of the said Act, enacted by subsection 1, applies before 30 October 1996, the French text thereof shall be read

(a) as if the reference in paragraph a to "fiducie de fonds commun de placements" were a reference to "fiducie de fonds mutuels"; and

(b) as if the reference in paragraph j to "société d'investissement à capital variable" were a reference to "corporation de fonds mutuels".

c. I-3, s. 252.1, added

70. (1) The said Act is amended by inserting, after section 252, the following section:

Reacquired property

"252.1 Where any property of the taxpayer is property that was reacquired by the taxpayer after having been previously disposed of by the taxpayer, no adjustment to the cost to the taxpayer of the property that was required to be made under this chapter before its reacquisition by the taxpayer shall be made under this chapter to the cost to the taxpayer of the property as reacquired property of the taxpayer.

Restriction

(b) the transferee shall add after that time, in computing the adjusted cost base to the transferee of the property, the amount determined under paragraph a in respect of that disposition.

adjusted cost base
on other transfers

“259.2 Where at any time in a taxation year a person or partnership, in this section referred to as the “vendor”, disposes of a specified property to another person or partnership, in this section referred to as the “transferee”, the vendor and the transferee do not deal with each other at arm’s length, or would not deal with each other at arm’s length if this section applied with reference to subparagraph k of the first paragraph of section 485.3, and the proceeds of disposition of the property at that time are not determined under any of the provisions referred to in section 259.1,

(a) the transferee shall deduct after that time in computing the adjusted cost base to the transferee of the property the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts deducted under paragraph b.1 of section 257 in computing, immediately before that time, the adjusted cost base to the vendor of the property exceeds the amount that would be the vendor’s capital gain for the year from that disposition if this Part were read without reference to subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234 and section 638; and

(b) the transferee shall add after that time, in computing the adjusted cost base to the transferee of the property, the amount determined under paragraph a in respect of that disposition.

(b) the new corporation shall add after that time, in computing the adjusted cost base to the new corporation of the capital property, the amount deducted under paragraph a in respect of the acquisition.”

(2) Subsection 1 applies to taxation years that end after 21 February 1994.

c. I-3, s. 261, am.

(2) Subsection 1 has effect from 22 February 1994.

c. I-3, ss. 261.1 – 261.8, added

78. (1) The said Act is amended by inserting, after section 261, the following:

“DIVISION I.1

“INTEREST IN A PARTNERSHIP

“261.7 For the purposes of section 261.6, a contribution of capital or an increase in the indebtedness will be considered not to be substantial where

(a) the amount was raised pursuant to the terms of a written agreement entered into by a partnership before 22 February 1994 to issue an interest in the partnership and was expended on expenditures contemplated by the agreement before 1 January 1995, or before 2 March 1995 in the case of amounts expended to acquire

“261.8 For the purposes of section 261.6, a partnership in respect of which any of paragraphs a to f of section 261.7 applies shall be considered to have actively carried on the business contemplated by the document referred to in any of those paragraphs, or earned income from the property described in any of those paragraphs, throughout the period beginning 22 February 1994 and ending on the earlier of 1 January 1995 and the closing date stipulated in the document.”

(2) Subsection 1 has effect from 22 February 1994. However, section 261.1 of the said Act, enacted by subsection 1, does not apply in respect of a member of a partnership before the end of the partnership's fifth fiscal period that ends after 31 December 1994 where the following conditions are met:

(1) the member acquires the interest in the partnership before 1 January 1995;

or debentures

(a) the amount by which the amount for which the obligation was issued exceeds the purchase price paid or agreed to be paid is deemed to be a capital gain of the taxpayer for the taxation year from the disposition of a capital property; and

(b) the amount by which the purchase price paid or agreed to be paid for the obligation exceeds the greater of the principal amount of the obligation and the amount for which it was issued is deemed to be a capital loss of the taxpayer for the taxation year from the disposition of a capital property.

Amount deemed to be a capital gain or capital loss

An amount may be deemed to be a capital gain or a capital loss of a taxpayer under the first paragraph to the extent that the amount would not, if this Part were read without reference to sections 485.12 and 485.13, otherwise be included or be deductible, as the case may be, in computing the taxpayer's income for the year or any other year.

Losses to corporations from the disposition of bonds or debentures

"264. The loss to a corporation from the disposition of a bond or debenture shall be decreased by the aggregate of the amounts it has received as interest on such bond or debenture, as the case may be, that have not been included in computing its income under paragraph d of section 489."

(2) Subsection 1, where it enacts the second paragraph of section 263 of the said Act, applies to taxation years that end after 21 February 1994.

Capital loss on the settlement or extinguishment of a commercial obligation

"264.0.2 Where a taxpayer sustains a loss on the settlement or extinguishment of a commercial obligation, within the meaning assigned by section 485, issued by a person or partnership and payable to the taxpayer, the loss, where the consideration given by the person or partnership for the settlement or extinguishment of the obligation consists of one or more other commercial obligations issued by the person or partnership to the taxpayer, is deemed to be the amount determined by the formula

Interpretation

(a) A is the amount of the taxpayer's loss, otherwise computed, from the disposition of the commercial obligation;

(b) B is the total fair market value of the consideration given by the person or partnership for the settlement or extinguishment of the commercial obligation; and

(b) B is one plus the number of taxation years that end after the acquisition date for which the property was the individual’s principal residence and during which the individual was resident in Canada;

(c) C is the number of taxation years that end after the acquisition date during which the individual owned the property whether jointly with another person or otherwise; and

(2) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxable capital gain of the individual or of a spouse of the individual that would have resulted from an election that was made under section 726.9.2 in respect of the property or interest if the property were the principal residence of neither the individual nor the spouse for each particular taxation year unless the property was designated, in a fiscal return for the taxation year that includes 22 February 1994 or for a preceding taxation year, to be the principal residence of either of them for the particular taxation year, and

“permitted exchange”, in relation to a distribution by a distributing corporation, means

(a) an exchange of shares for shares of the capital stock of the distributing corporation to which section 301 or sections 541 to 543 apply or would, if the shares were capital property to the holder thereof, apply, other than an exchange that resulted in an acquisition of control of the distributing corporation by any person or group of persons, and

(b) an exchange of shares of the capital stock of the distributing corporation by one or more shareholders of the distributing corporation, each of whom is referred to in this paragraph and the second paragraph as a “participant”, for shares of the capital stock of another corporation, referred to in this paragraph and the second paragraph as the “acquirer”, in contemplation of the distribution where no share of the capital stock of the acquirer outstanding immediately after the exchange, other than directors’ qualifying shares, is owned at that time by any person or partnership other than a participant, and either

i. the acquirer owns, immediately before the distribution, all the shares each of which is a share of the capital stock of the distributing corporation that was owned immediately before the exchange by a participant, or

ii. the fair market value, immediately before the distribution, of each participant’s shares of the capital stock of the acquirer is equal to or approximates the amount determined by the formula

$$(A \times \frac{B}{C}) + D;$$

“permitted redemption”

“permitted redemption”, in relation to a distribution by a distributing corporation, means

(a) a redemption or purchase for cancellation by the distributing corporation, as part of the reorganization in which the distribution was made, of all the shares of its capital stock owned by a transferee corporation in relation to the distributing corporation,

(b) a redemption or purchase for cancellation by a transferee corporation in relation to the distributing corporation, as part of the reorganization in which the distribution was made, of all the shares of its capital stock owned by the distributing corporation, and

(c) a redemption or purchase for cancellation by the distributing corporation, in contemplation of the distribution, of all the shares of its capital stock each of which is

i. a share of a specified class the cost of which, at the time of its issuance, to its original owner was equal to the fair market value at that time of the consideration for which it was issued, or

ii. a share that was issued, in contemplation of the distribution, by the distributing corporation in exchange for a share described in subparagraph i;

“specified class”

“specified class” means a class of shares of the capital stock of a distributing corporation where

(a) the paid-up capital in respect of the class immediately before the beginning of the series of transactions or events that includes a distribution by the distributing corporation was not less than the fair market value of the consideration for which the shares of that class then outstanding were issued,

(b) under neither the terms and conditions of the shares nor any agreement in respect of the shares are the shares convertible into or exchangeable for shares other than shares of a specified class or shares of the capital stock of a transferee corporation in relation to the distributing corporation, and

(c) under neither the terms and conditions of the shares nor any agreement in respect of the shares is any holder of the shares entitled to receive on the redemption, cancellation or acquisition of the shares by the corporation or by any person with whom the corporation does not deal at arm's length, excluding any premium for early redemption, an amount greater than the total of the fair market value of the consideration for which the shares were issued and the amount of any unpaid dividends thereon.

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formula in subparagraph ii of paragraph b of the definition of “permitted exchange” in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the fair market value, immediately before the distribution, of all the shares of the capital stock of the acquirer then outstanding, other than shares issued to participants in consideration for shares of a specified class all the shares of which were acquired by the acquirer on the exchange;

(b) B is the fair market value, immediately before the exchange, of all the shares of the capital stock of the distributing corporation, other than shares of a specified class none or all of the shares of which were acquired by the acquirer on the exchange, owned at that time by the participant;

(c) C is the fair market value, immediately before the exchange, of all the shares, other than shares of a specified class none or all of the shares of which were acquired by the acquirer on the exchange and shares to be redeemed, acquired or cancelled by the distributing corporation pursuant to the exercise of a statutory right of dissent by the holder of the share, of the capital stock of the distributing corporation outstanding immediately before the exchange; and

(d) D is the fair market value, immediately before the distribution, of all the shares issued to the participant by the acquirer in consideration for shares of a specified class all of the shares of which were acquired by the acquirer on the exchange.”

(2) Subsection 1 applies in respect of dividends received after 21 February 1994, other than dividends received before 1 January 1995 in the course of a reorganization that was required on 22 February 1994 to be carried out pursuant to a written agreement entered into before 22 February 1994.

c. I-3, ss. 346.1 –

106. (1) The said Act is amended by inserting, after section 346, the following:

“CHAPTER VI.1

“DEBT FORGIVENESS

Reserve for debt forgiveness for individuals resident in Canada

“346.1 There may be deducted in computing the income for a taxation year of an individual, other than a trust, resident in Canada throughout the year such amount as the individual claims not exceeding the amount determined by the formula

$$A + B - 0.2(C - $40,000).$$

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that, because of the application of sections 485 to 485.18 to an obligation payable by the individual, or a partnership of which the individual was a member, was included under section 485.13 in computing the income of the individual for the year or the income of the partnership for a fiscal period that ends in the year, to the extent that, where the amount was included in computing income of a partnership, it relates to the individual’s share of that income, exceeds the aggregate of all amounts deducted because of paragraph a of section 485.15 in computing the individual’s income for the year;

(b) B is the amount included under section 313.7 in computing the individual’s income for the year; and

(c) C is the greater of $40,000 and the individual's income for the year, determined without reference to this section, section 313.7, paragraph j of subsection 1 of section 336, section 485.13 and paragraph a of section 485.15.

Deduction for insolvency with respect to

“346.2 Subject to section 346.3, there shall be deducted in computing the income for a taxation year of a corporation that is not exempt from tax under this Part on its taxable income, the lesser of

(a) the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that, because of the application of sections 485 to 485.18 to a commercial obligation, within the meaning assigned by section 485, issued by the corporation, or a partnership of which the corporation was a member, was included under section 485.13 in computing the income of the corporation for the year or the income of the partnership for a fiscal period that ends in the year, to the extent that the amount, where it was included in computing income of a partnership, relates to the corporation's share of that income, exceeds the aggregate of all amounts deducted because of paragraph a of section 485.15, in computing the corporation's income for the year; and

(b) the amount determined by the formula

$$A - 2(B - C - D - E).$$

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formula in subparagraph b of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount determined under subparagraph a of the first paragraph in respect of the corporation for the year;

(b) B is the aggregate of

i. the fair market value of the assets of the corporation at the end of the year,

ii. the amounts paid before the end of the year on account of the corporation's tax payable under this Part or any of Parts III.11, IV, IV.1, VI and VII for the year or on account of a tax payable by the corporation for the year, under any of Parts I, I.3, II, VI and XIV of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) or under any similar part of an Act of a province other than Québec, and

iii. all amounts paid by the corporation in the 12-month period preceding the end of the year to a person with whom the corporation does not deal at arm's length

(1) as a dividend, other than a stock dividend,

(2) on a reduction of paid-up capital in respect of any class of shares of its capital stock,

(3) on a redemption, acquisition or cancellation of its shares, or

(4) as a distribution or appropriation in any manner whatever to or for the benefit of the shareholders, to the extent that the distribution or appropriation cannot reasonably be considered to have resulted in a reduction in the amount otherwise determined under subparagraph c in respect of the corporation for the year;

(c) C is the total liabilities of the corporation at the end of the year determined in accordance with the rules set out in the second paragraph and without reference to any tax payable by the corporation for the year under this Part and Parts III.11, IV, IV.1, VI and VII or to a tax payable by the corporation for the year under any of Parts I, I.3, II, VI and XIV of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) or under any similar part of an Act of a province other than Québec,

(d) D is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the principal amount at the end of the year of a distress preferred share, within the meaning assigned by section 485, issued by the corporation; and

(e) E is 50% of the amount by which the amount that would be the corporation's income for the year if that amount were determined without reference to this section and sections 346.3, 346.4 and 485.17, exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph a of the first paragraph in respect of the corporation for the year.

Determination of total liabilities

For the purposes of subparagraph c of the second paragraph, except as otherwise provided therein, the total liabilities of a corporation shall

(a) where the corporation is not an insurance corporation or a bank to which subparagraph b or c applies and the balance sheet as of the end of the year was prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and was presented to the shareholders of the corporation, be considered to be the total liabilities shown on that balance sheet;

(b) where the corporation is a bank or an insurance corporation that is required to report to the Superintendent of Financial Institutions of Canada and the balance sheet as of the end of the year was accepted by the Superintendent, be considered to be the total liabilities shown on that balance sheet;

(c) where the corporation is an insurance corporation that is required to report to the superintendent of insurance or other similar officer or authority of the province under whose laws the corporation is incorporated, or the Inspector General of Financial Institutions, and the balance sheet as of the end of the year was accepted by that officer or authority, be considered to be the total liabilities shown on that balance sheet; and

(d) in any other case, be considered to be the amount that would be shown as total liabilities of the corporation at the end of the year on a balance sheet prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

Restriction

Subparagraph c of the second paragraph and the third paragraph apply, subject to section 7.12.

Anti-avoidance

“346.3 Section 346.2 does not apply in respect of a corporation for a taxation year where property was transferred in the 12-month period preceding the end of the year or the corporation became indebted in that period and it can reasonably be considered that one of the reasons for the transfer or the indebtedness was to increase the amount that the corporation would, but for this section, be entitled to deduct under that section 346.2.

Reserve for debt forgiveness for corporations and others

“346.4 There may be deducted as a reserve in computing the income for a taxation year of a taxpayer that is a corporation or trust resident in Canada throughout the year or a person not resident in Canada who carried on business through a fixed place of business in Canada at the end of the year such amount as the taxpayer claims not exceeding the least of

(a) the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B;$$

(b) the aggregate of

i. $\frac{4}{5}$ of the amount that would be determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph in respect of the taxpayer for the year if that value did not take into account amounts included or deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for any preceding taxation year,

ii. $\frac{3}{5}$ of the amount that would be determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph in respect of the taxpayer for the year if that value did not take into account amounts included or deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the year or any preceding taxation year other than the last preceding taxation year,

iii. $\frac{2}{5}$ of the amount that would be determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph in respect of the taxpayer for the year if that value did not take into account amounts included or deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the year or any preceding taxation year, other than the second last preceding taxation year, and

iv. $\frac{1}{5}$ of the amount that would be determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph in respect of the taxpayer for the year if that value did not take into account amounts included or deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the year or any preceding taxation year, other than the third last preceding taxation year; and

disposition for debtor

“484.2 Where a particular property is surrendered at any time by a person, in this section referred to as the “debtor”, to a creditor of the debtor, the debtor’s proceeds of disposition of the particular property is deemed to be the amount determined by the formula properties being surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor;

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a specified amount of a particular debt that is owed by the debtor immediately before that time to a person, other than a specified amount included in the amount determined under subparagraph a or b as a consequence of properties being surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor, where

i. any property surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor was security for

(2) another debt that is owed by the debtor immediately before that time to the creditor, and

ii. the other debt is subordinate to the particular debt in respect of the property referred to in subparagraph i;

(d) D is

i. where a specified amount of a debt owed by the debtor immediately before that time to a person, other than the creditor, ceases, as a consequence of the surrender at that time of properties by the debtor to the creditor, to be secured by all properties owned by the debtor immediately before that time, the lesser of

(1) the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is such a specified amount exceeds the portion of that aggregate included in any amount determined under subparagraph b or c as a consequence of properties being surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor, and

(2) the amount by which the total cost amount to the debtor of all properties surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor exceeds the amount that would, but for this subparagraph and subparagraph f, be determined under this section as a consequence of the surrender, and

ii. in any other case, nil;

(e) E is

i. where the property is surrendered at that time by the debtor in circumstances in which paragraph c of section 422 would, but for this section, apply and the fair market value of all properties surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor exceeds the amount that would, but for this subparagraph and subparagraph f, be determined under this section as a consequence of the surrender, that excess, and

ii. in any other case, nil;

(f) F is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the lesser of

i. the portion of a particular specified amount of a particular debt included in the amount determined under any of subparagraphs a to d in computing the debtor's proceeds of disposition of the particular property, and

(e) where an applicable fraction, as determined under subparagraph d, of the unapplied portion of a forgiven amount is at any time applied under section 485.5 to reduce a loss for a taxation year, the portion of the forgiven amount so applied is, except for the purpose of reducing the loss, deemed to be the quotient obtained when the amount of the reduction under that section 485.5 is divided by the applicable fraction;

(f) where $3/4$ of the unapplied portion of a forgiven amount is applied under section 485.7 to reduce the eligible intangible capital amount, except for the purpose of reducing the eligible intangible capital amount, the portion of the forgiven amount so applied is deemed to be $4/3$ of the amount of the reduction under that section 485.7;

(g) where a share, other than an excluded security, is issued by a corporation to a person as consideration for the settlement of a debt issued by the corporation and payable to the person, the amount paid in satisfaction of the debt as a consequence of the issue of the share is deemed to be equal to the fair market value of the share at the time it was issued;

(h) where a debt issued by a corporation and payable to a person is settled at any time, the amount that can reasonably be considered to be the increase, as a consequence of the settlement of the debt, in the fair market value of the shares of the capital stock of the corporation owned by the person, other than shares acquired by the person as consideration for the settlement of the debt, is deemed to be paid at that time in satisfaction of the debt;

(i) where the consideration given by a debtor to another person for the settlement at any time of a particular commercial debt obligation issued by the debtor and payable to the other person includes a new commercial debt obligation issued by the debtor to the other person

i. an amount equal to the principal amount of the new obligation is deemed to have been paid by the debtor at that time, because of the issue of the new obligation, in satisfaction of the principal amount of the particular obligation, and

ii. the new obligation is deemed to have been issued for an amount equal to the amount by which the principal amount of the new obligation exceeds the amount by which the principal amount of the new obligation exceeds the amount for which the particular obligation was issued;

(j) where two or more commercial obligations issued by a debtor are settled at the same time, those obligations shall be treated as if they were settled at different times in the order designated by the debtor in a prescribed form filed with the debtor's fiscal return under this Part for the debtor's taxation year that includes the time of the settlement or, if the debtor does not so designate any such order, in the order designated by the Minister;

(k) for the purpose of determining, at any time, whether two persons are related to each other or whether any person is controlled by any other person, the following rules apply:

i. each partnership and each trust is deemed to be a corporation having a capital stock of a single class of voting shares divided into 100 issued shares,

ii. each member of a partnership and each beneficiary under a trust is deemed to own at that time the number of issued shares of that class that is equal to the proportion of 100 that the fair market value at that time of the member's interest in the partnership or the beneficiary's interest in the trust, as the case may be, is of the fair market value at that time of all members' interests in the partnership or all beneficiaries' interests in the trust, as the case may be, and

iii. where a beneficiary's share of the income or capital of a trust depends on the exercise by any person of, or the failure by any person to exercise, any discretionary power, the fair market value at any time of the beneficiary's interest in the trust is equal to

(1) where the beneficiary is not entitled to receive or otherwise obtain the use of all or part of the income or capital of the trust before the death after that time of one or more other beneficiaries under the trust, nil, and

(2) in any other case, the fair market value at that time of all beneficiaries' interests in the trust;

(l) where an obligation is denominated in a foreign currency, the forgiven amount at any time in respect of the obligation shall be determined with reference to the relative value of that currency and Canadian currency at the time the obligation was issued;

(m) where an amount is paid in satisfaction of the principal amount of a particular commercial obligation issued by a debtor and, as a consequence of the payment, the debtor is legally obliged to pay that amount to another person, the obligation to pay that amount to the other person is deemed to be a commercial obligation that was issued by the debtor at the same time and in the same circumstances as the particular obligation;

(n) the amount that can be applied because of sections 485 to 485.18 to reduce another amount may not exceed that other amount;

(o) except for the purposes of this paragraph, where a commercial debt obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time, the debtor is at that time a member of a partnership, and the obligation was, under the agreement governing the obligation, considered immediately before that time as a debt owed by the partnership, the obligation is deemed to have been issued by the partnership and not by the debtor;

(p) notwithstanding subparagraph o, where a commercial debt obligation for which a particular person is solidarily liable with one or more other persons is settled at any time in respect of the particular person but not in respect of all of the other persons, the portion of the obligation that can reasonably be considered to be the particular person's share of the obligation is deemed to have been issued by the particular person and settled at that time and not at any subsequent time;

(q) a commercial debt obligation issued by an individual that is outstanding at the time of the individual's death and settled at a time subsequent to the death is, if the succession of the individual was liable for the obligation immediately before the subsequent time, deemed to have been issued by the succession at the same time at which, and in the same circumstances in which, the obligation was issued by the individual; and

(r) where a commercial debt obligation issued by an individual would, but for this paragraph, be settled at any time in the period ending six months after the death of an individual, or within such longer period as is acceptable to the Minister and the succession of the individual, and the succession of the individual was liable immediately before that time for the obligation, the following rules apply, subject to the second paragraph:

i. the obligation is deemed to have been settled at the beginning of the day on which the individual died and not at that time,

ii. any amount paid at that time by the succession in satisfaction of the principal amount of the obligation is deemed to have been paid at the beginning of the day on which the individual died,

iii. any amount given by the estate at or before that time to another person as consideration for assumption by the other person of the obligation is deemed to have been given at the beginning of the day on which the individual died, and

iv. subparagraph b shall not apply in respect of the settlement to interest that accrues within that period.

(4) The form referred to in subparagraph j of the first paragraph of section 485.3 of the said Act, enacted by subsection 1, is deemed to have been filed in respect of the settlement of two or more commercial obligations, within the time determined in that subsection where a copy of the similar form required to be filed under paragraph i of subsection 2 of section 80 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), in respect of the settlement of such obligations, is filed with the Minister of Revenue on or before 28 April 1997.

i. does not exceed the amount, in section 485.5 referred to as the debtor’s “ordinary non-capital loss at that time for the year”, that would be the relevant loss balance at that time for the obligation and in respect of the debtor’s non-capital loss for the year if paragraph a of section 728.0.1 were read without reference to “his allowable business investment losses for the year,”, and

ii. does not, because of this section, reduce the debtor’s non-capital loss for a preceding taxation year;

(b) the debtor’s farm loss for each taxation year that ended before that time, to the extent that the amount so applied

i. does not exceed the relevant loss balance at that time for the obligation and in respect of the debtor’s farm loss for the year, and

Reductions with respect to depreciable
property

"485.6 Where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time, the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount at that time in respect of the obligation shall be applied, subject to the second paragraph, in such manner as is designated by the debtor in a prescribed form filed with the debtor's fiscal return under this Part for the taxation year that includes that time, to reduce immediately after that time the following amounts:

Restriction

The remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount in respect of a commercial obligation at the time of settlement of the obligation may be applied to reduce, immediately after that time, the capital cost to the debtor of a depreciable property only to the extent that

(a) in the case of a depreciable property of a prescribed class, the undepreciated capital cost to the debtor of depreciable property of that class at that time exceeds the aggregate of all other reductions immediately after that time to that undepreciated capital cost; and

(b) in the case of a depreciable property other than a depreciable property of a prescribed class, the capital cost to the debtor of the property at that time exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount allowed to the debtor before that time in respect of the property

(a) where the debtor is a corporation resident in Canada throughout that year, each particular amount determined in respect of the debtor under the second paragraph of section 418.17, 418.18 or 418.19, or that would be determined under the second paragraph of section 418.21 if that second paragraph were read without reference to "10% of", as a consequence of the acquisition of control of the debtor by a person or group of persons, the debtor ceasing to be exempt from tax under this Part on its taxable income or the acquisition of properties by the debtor by way of an amalgamation or merger, where the amount so applied does not exceed the successor pool immediately after that time for the obligation and in respect of the particular amount;

Reductions of
adjusted cost bases
of capital properties

"485.9 Subject to section 485.18, where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time and amounts have been designated under sections 485.6 to 485.8 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of the obligation,

(a) the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount at that time in respect of the obligation shall be applied, to the extent designated in a prescribed form filed with the debtor's fiscal return under this Part for the taxation year that includes that time, to reduce immediately after that time the adjusted cost bases to the debtor of capital properties, other than shares of the capital stock of corporations of which the debtor is a specified shareholder at that time, debts issued by corporations of which the debtor is a specified shareholder at that time, interests in partnerships that are related to the debtor at that time, depreciable property that is not of a prescribed class, personal-use properties and excluded properties, that are owned by the debtor immediately after that time;

Reductions of
adjusted cost bases
of certain shares
and debts

"485.10 Subject to section 485.18, where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time in a taxation year and amounts have been designated by the debtor under sections 485.6 to 485.9 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of the obligation, the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount in respect of the obligation shall be applied, to the extent that it is designated in a prescribed form filed with the debtor's fiscal return under this Part for the year, to reduce immediately after that time the adjusted cost bases to the debtor of capital properties, owned by the debtor immediately after that time, that are shares of the capital stock of corporations of which the debtor is a specified shareholder at that time and debts issued by such corporations, other than shares of the capital stock of corporations related to the debtor at that time, debts issued by corporations related to the debtor at that time and excluded properties.

Reductions of
adjusted cost bases
of certain shares,
debts and partnership interests

“485.11 Subject to section 485.18, where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time in a taxation year and amounts have been designated by the debtor under sections 485.6 to 485.10 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of the obligation, the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount in respect of the obligation shall be applied, to the extent that it is designated in a prescribed form filed with the debtor’s fiscal return under this Part for the year, to reduce immediately after that time the adjusted cost bases to the debtor of

(a) shares or debts that are capital properties, other than excluded properties and properties the adjusted cost bases of which are reduced at that time under section 485.9 or 485.10, owned by the debtor immediately after that time; and

(b) interests in partnerships that are related to the debtor at that time that are capital properties, other than excluded properties, owned by the debtor immediately after that time.

Deemed capital gain

“485.12 Where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor, other than a partnership, is settled at any time in a taxation year and amounts have been designated by the debtor under sections 485.6 to 485.9 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of the obligation,

(a) the debtor is deemed to have a capital gain for the year from the disposition of capital property or, where the debtor is an individual not resident in Canada at the end of the year, of taxable Canadian property, equal to the lesser of

i. the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount at that time in respect of the obligation, and

ii. the amount by which the aggregate of the debtor’s capital losses from the dispositions of properties, other than precious property and excluded properties, and $\frac{4}{3}$ of the amount that would, because of sections 564.2 to 564.4 and 564.4.4, be deductible under section 729 in computing the debtor’s taxable income for the year, if the debtor had sufficient incomes and taxable capital gains for the year for such purposes, exceeds the aggregate of the debtor’s capital gains for the year from the dispositions of such properties, determined without reference to this section, and the aggregate of the amounts each of which is an amount deemed by this section to be a capital gain of the debtor for the year as a consequence of the application of this section to another commercial obligation settled before that time; and

(b) the forgiven amount at that time in respect of the obligation shall be considered to have been applied under this section to the extent of the amount deemed by this section to be a capital gain of the debtor for the year as a consequence of the application of this section to the settlement of the obligation at that time.

Income inclusion

“485.13 Where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time in a taxation year, there shall be added, in computing the debtor’s income for the year from the source in connection with which the obligation was issued, the amount determined by the formula

$$(A + B - C - D) \times E.$$

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount at that time in respect of the obligation;

(b) B is the lesser of

i. the aggregate of all amounts designated under section 485.11 by the debtor in respect of the settlement of the obligation at that time, and

ii. the aggregate of the residual balance at that time in respect of the settlement of the obligation and the amount by which the amount determined under subparagraph c in respect of the settlement exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph a in respect of the settlement;

(c) C is the aggregate of the amounts each of which is an amount specified in an agreement filed under subdivision 6 in respect of the settlement of the obligation at that time;

(d) D is

i. where the debtor has designated amounts under sections 485.6 to 485.10 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of the obligation, the amount by which the aggregate of the amounts each of which is an unrecognized loss at that time, in respect of the obligation, from the disposition of a property exceeds $\frac{4}{3}$ of the aggregate of the amounts each of which is an amount by which the amount determined before that time under this section in respect of a settlement of an obligation issued by the debtor has been reduced because of an amount determined under this subparagraph, and

ii. in any other case, zero, and

(e) E is equal to 75% or, where the debtor is a partnership, is equal to 100%.

Residual balance

“485.14 For the purposes of section 485.13, the residual balance at any time in a taxation year in respect of the settlement of a particular commercial obligation issued by a debtor is the amount by which the aggregate described in the second paragraph is exceeded by the aggregate of

(a) all amounts each of which is an amount that would be applied under any of sections 485.4 to 485.10 and 485.12 in respect of the settlements of separate commercial obligations issued by directed persons at that time in respect of the debtor if

i. those obligations were issued at that time by those directed persons and were settled immediately after that time,

ii. an amount equal to the forgiven amount at that time in respect of the particular obligation were the forgiven amount immediately after that time in respect of each of those obligations,

iii. amounts were designated under sections 485.6 to 485.10 by those directed persons to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of each of those obligations, and

iv. no amounts were designated under section 485.11 by any of those directed persons in respect of the settlement of any of those obligations; and

(b) where the debtor is a partnership, all amounts each of which is 1/4 of an amount deducted because of subparagraph a or b of the second paragraph in computing the residual balance at that time in respect of the settlement of the particular obligation.

Interpretation

The aggregate to which the first paragraph refers is the aggregate of

(a) all amounts each of which is 4/3 of the amount that would be included under section 485.13 in computing the debtor's income for the year in respect of the settlement at or before that time of a commercial obligation issued by the debtor if the amounts determined under subparagraphs b and d of the second paragraph of that section were nil;

(b) all amounts each of which is $\frac{4}{3}$ of an amount that would, if the amount determined under subparagraph d of the second paragraph of section 485.13 were nil, be included under that section in computing the income of any of the directed persons referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph in respect of the settlement of an obligation that is deemed by paragraph a of section 485.42 to have been issued by the directed person because of the filing of an agreement under subdivision 6 in respect of the settlement at or before that time and in the year of a commercial obligation issued by the debtor;

(c) any amount specified in an agreement, other than an agreement with any of the directed persons referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph, filed under subdivision 6 in respect of the settlement at or before that time and in the year of a commercial obligation issued by the debtor; and

(d) all amounts each of which is the lesser of

i. the aggregate of the amounts designated under section 485.11 in respect of the settlement before that time and in the year of another commercial obligation issued by the debtor, and

ii. the residual balance of the debtor at that previous time.

Members of partnerships

“485.15 Where a commercial debt obligation issued by a partnership, in this section referred to as the “partnership obligation”, is settled at any time in a fiscal period of the partnership that ends in a taxation year of a member of the partnership,

(a) the member may deduct, in computing the member’s income for the year, such amount as the member claims not exceeding the relevant limit in respect of the partnership obligation;

(b) for the purposes of paragraph a, the relevant limit in respect of the partnership obligation is the amount that would be included in computing the member’s income for the year as a consequence of the application of sections 485.13 and 599 to 613.10 to the settlement of the partnership obligation if the partnership had designated amounts under sections 485.6 to 485.10 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of each obligation settled in that fiscal period and if income arising from the application of section 485.13 were from a source of income separate from any other sources of partnership income; and

(c) for the purposes of sections 485 to 485.18 and 485.42 to 485.52,

i. the member is deemed to have issued a commercial debt obligation that was settled at the end of that fiscal period,

ii. the amount deducted under paragraph a in respect of the partnership obligation in computing the member's income shall be treated as if it were the forgiven amount at the end of that fiscal period in respect of the obligation referred to in subparagraph i,

iii. subject to subparagraph iv, the obligation referred to in subparagraph i is deemed to have been issued at the same time at which, and in the same circumstances in which, the partnership obligation was issued,

iv. where the member is a corporation the control of which was acquired at a particular time that is before the end of that fiscal period and before the corporation became a member of the partnership and the partnership obligation was issued before the particular time,

(1) subject to the application of this subparagraph iv to an acquisition of control of the corporation after the particular time and before the end of that fiscal period, the obligation referred to in subparagraph i is deemed to have been issued by the member after the particular time, and

(2) paragraph b of the definition of "unrecognized loss" in section 485 and paragraph b of sections 485.1 and 485.2 do not apply in respect of that acquisition of control, and

v. the source in connection with which the obligation referred to in subparagraph i was issued is deemed to be the source in connection with which the partnership obligation is issued.

Designations by the Minister

"485.16 Where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time in a taxation year and, as a consequence of the settlement of the obligation, an amount would, but for this section, be deducted under section 346.1 or 346.2 in computing the debtor's income for the year and the debtor has not designated amounts under sections 485.6 to 485.11 to the maximum extent possible in respect of the settlement of the obligation,

(a) the Minister may designate amounts under sections 485.6 to 485.11 to the extent that the debtor would have been permitted to designate those amounts under those sections; and

(b) the amounts designated by the Minister shall, except for the purposes of this section, be deemed to have been designated by the debtor under sections 485.6 to 485.11.

Income inclusion

“485.17 Where a commercial obligation issued by a corporation is settled at any time in a taxation year and, as a consequence of the settlement, an amount is deducted under section 346.2 in computing the corporation’s income for the year, unless the corporation has commenced to wind up on or before the day that is 12 months after the end of the year there shall be included in computing the corporation’s income for the year from the source in connection with which the obligation was issued 50% of the lesser of

(a) the aggregate of the amounts designated under section 485.11 by the corporation in respect of the settlement of the obligation at that time; and

(b) the amount by which the lesser of the following amounts exceed the aggregate of the amounts included because of this section in computing the corporation’s income for the year in respect of a settlement before that time of a commercial obligation issued by the corporation:

i. the residual balance, within the meaning assigned by section 485.14, of the corporation at that time in respect of the settlement of the obligation, and

ii. the amount by which the amount deducted under section 346.2 in computing the corporation’s income for the year exceeds the amount deducted because of paragraph c.1 of section 225 in determining the aggregate of the amounts that may be deducted in computing, after the end of the year, the corporation’s income under sections 222 to 224 because of an amount deducted under section 346.2 in computing the corporation’s income for the year.

Partnership designations

“485.18 Where a commercial obligation issued by a partnership is settled at any time after 20 December 1994, the amount designated under any of sections 485.9 to 485.11 in respect of the settlement by the partnership to reduce the adjusted cost base of a capital property acquired by the partnership shall not exceed the amount by which the adjusted cost base at that time to the partnership of the property exceeds the fair market value at that time of the property.

“§ 3. — Deemed settlement of an obligation

Interpretation and application

“485.19 For the purposes of this subdivision,

(a) notwithstanding section 485, “forgiven amount” in respect of an obligation has the meaning assigned by the second paragraph of section 37.0.1 or 111.1, as the case may be, where an amount would be included in computing a person’s income under section 37 or 111 as a consequence of the settlement of the obligation if the obligation were settled without any payment being made in satisfaction of its principal amount;

(b) subparagraphs a, b, k, m and o of the first paragraph of section 485.3 apply; and

(c) a person is deemed to have a significant interest in a corporation at any time if the person owned at that time shares of the capital stock of the corporation

i. that would give the person 25% or more of the votes that could be cast under all circumstances at the annual meeting of shareholders of the corporation, or

ii. having a fair market value of 25% or more of the fair market value of all the issued shares of the corporation.

Deemed property

on winding-up

“485.21 Where there is a winding-up of a subsidiary to which sections 556 to 564.1 and 565 apply and a debt or other obligation, in this section referred to as the “subsidiary’s obligation”, of the

subsidiary to pay an amount to the parent, or a debt or other obligation, in this section referred to as the “parent’s obligation”, of the parent to pay an amount to the subsidiary is, as a consequence of the winding-up, settled at a particular time without any payment of an amount or by the payment of an amount that is less than the principal amount of the subsidiary’s obligation or the parent’s obligation, as the case may be,

(a) where that payment is less than the amount that would be the cost amount to the subsidiary or parent of the subsidiary’s obligation or the parent’s obligation immediately before the particular time if the definition of “cost amount” in section 1 were read without reference to paragraph e of that definition, and the parent so elects in a prescribed form on or before the day on or before which the parent is required to file a fiscal return pursuant to section 1000 for the taxation year that includes the particular time, the amount paid at that time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the subsidiary’s obligation or the parent’s obligation is deemed to be equal to the amount that would be the cost amount to the subsidiary or the parent, as the case may be, of the subsidiary’s obligation or the parent’s obligation immediately before the particular time if the definition of “cost amount” were read without reference to paragraph e of that definition, and if that cost amount included amounts added in computing the subsidiary’s income or the parent’s income in respect of the portion of the indebtedness representing unpaid interest, to the extent that the subsidiary or the parent has not deducted any amounts as bad debts in respect of that unpaid interest; and

in relation to debt

“485.23 For the purposes of section 485.24, “specified obligation” of a debtor at a particular time means an obligation issued by the debtor where

(a) at any previous time, other than a time before the last time the obligation became a parked obligation before the particular time,

i. a person who owned the obligation dealt at arm’s length with the debtor and, where the debtor is a corporation, did not have a significant interest in the debtor, or

ii. the obligation was acquired by the holder of the obligation from another person who was, at the time of that acquisition, not related to the holder or related to the holder only because of paragraph b of section 20; or

(b) the obligation is deemed by section 299 to have been reacquired at the particular time.

Parked obligation

“485.24 For the purposes of this section and sections 485.23, 485.25 and 485.27,

(a) an obligation issued by a debtor is a parked obligation at any time where at that time

i. the obligation is a specified obligation of the debtor, and

ii. the holder of the obligation does not deal at arm’s length with the debtor or, where the debtor is a corporation and the holder acquired the obligation after 12 July 1994, otherwise than pursuant to an agreement in writing entered into on or before that date, has a significant interest in the debtor; and

(b) an obligation that is, at any time, acquired or reacquired in circumstances to which subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 485.23 or paragraph b of that section applies is, if the obligation is a parked obligation immediately after that time, deemed to have become a parked obligation at that time.

Deemed settlement
after debt parking

“485.25 Where at any particular time after 21 February 1994, a commercial debt obligation that was issued by a debtor becomes a parked obligation, otherwise than pursuant to an agreement in writing entered into before 22 February 1994, and the specified cost at the particular time to the holder of the obligation is less than 80% of the principal amount of the obligation, for the purpose of applying the provisions of this Part to the debtor,

(a) the obligation is deemed to have been settled at the particular time; and

(b) the forgiven amount at the particular time in respect of the obligation shall be determined as if the debtor had paid an amount at the particular time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the obligation equal to that specified cost.

“485.26 Where at any particular time after 21 February 1994, a commercial debt obligation issued by a debtor that is payable to a person other than a person with whom the debtor is related at that time becomes unenforceable in a competent court because of a statutory limitation period and the obligation would, but for this section, not have been settled or extinguished at the particular time, for the purpose of applying the provisions of this Part to the debtor, the obligation is deemed to have been settled at the particular time.

Subsequent payments in satisfaction of debt

“485.27 Where a commercial debt obligation issued by a debtor is first deemed by section 485.25 or 485.26 to have been settled at a particular time, at a subsequent time a payment is made by the debtor of an amount in satisfaction of the principal amount of the obligation and it cannot reasonably be considered that one of the reasons the obligation became a parked obligation or became unenforceable, as the case may be, before the subsequent time was to have this section apply to the payment, in computing the debtor's income for the taxation year, in this section referred to as the “subsequent year”, that includes the subsequent time from the source in connection with which the obligation was issued, there may be deducted the amount determined by the formula

$$0.75(A - B) - C.$$

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount of the payment;

(b) B is the amount by which the principal amount of the obligation exceeds the aggregate of

i. all amounts each of which is a forgiven amount in respect of a particular portion of the obligation at any time in the period that began at the particular time referred to in the first paragraph and ended immediately before the subsequent time referred to therein, and at which a particular portion of the obligation is deemed by section 485.25 or 485.26 to be settled in respect of the particular portion, and

ii. all amounts paid in satisfaction of the principal amount of the obligation in the period referred to in subparagraph i; and

(c) C is the amount by which the aggregate of the following amounts exceeds the aggregate of the amounts described in the third paragraph:

i. all amounts deducted by the debtor under section 346.2 in computing the debtor's income for the subsequent year or a preceding taxation year,

ii. all amounts added by the debtor because of section 485.13 in computing the debtor's income for the subsequent year or a preceding taxation year in respect of a settlement under section 485.25 or 485.26 in a period during which the debtor was exempt from tax under this Part on its taxable income, and

iii. all amounts added by the debtor because of section 485.13 in computing the debtor's income for the subsequent year or a preceding taxation year in respect of a settlement under section 485.25 or 485.26 in a period during which the debtor, in the case of a corporation, had no establishment in Québec or, in the case of an individual, was not resident in Canada, other than any of those amounts added by the individual in computing his income, taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada as a consequence of the second paragraph of section 23 or section 26, as the case may be.

Determination

The aggregate to which subparagraph c of the second paragraph refers is the aggregate of

(a) the amount deducted by the debtor because of paragraph c.1 of section 225 in computing the aggregate, determined immediately after the subsequent year, of the amounts deductible under sections 222 to 224 by the debtor; and

(b) all amounts by which, because of subparagraph c of the second paragraph, the amount deductible by the debtor under this section in respect of a payment made by the debtor before the subsequent time referred to in the first paragraph in computing the debtor's income for the subsequent year or a preceding year has been reduced.

Foreign currency
gains and losses

"485.28 Where an obligation issued by a debtor is denominated in a foreign currency and the obligation is deemed by section 485.25 or 485.26 to have been settled, those sections do not apply for the purpose of determining any gain or loss of the debtor on the settlement that is attributable to a fluctuation in the value of the foreign currency relative to the value of Canadian currency.

(b) the amount for which the share was issued is, at any time, deemed to be the amount by which the aggregate of the following amounts exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount paid before that time on a reduction of the paid-up capital in respect of the share, except to the extent that the amount is deemed by sections 504 to 510.1 to have been paid as a dividend:

i. the amount for which the share was issued, determined without reference to this subparagraph, and

ii. all amounts by which the paid-up capital in respect of the share increased after the share was issued and before that time;

(c) the share is deemed to be settled at such time as it is redeemed, acquired or cancelled by the issuer; and

(d) a payment in satisfaction of the principal amount of the share means any payment made on a reduction of the paid-up capital in respect of the share to the extent that the payment is proceeds of disposition of the share within the meaning that would be assigned by section 251 if that section were read without reference to "an amount deemed to be a dividend received under section 508 to the extent that it refers to a dividend deemed paid under sections 505 and 506 and not deemed not to be a dividend under paragraph a of section 308.1 or under paragraph b of section 568,”.

(a) for the purposes of sections 485 to 485.18, the amount paid at that time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the obligation because of the issue of that share is deemed to be equal to the lesser of the principal amount of the obligation and the amount by which the paid-up capital in respect of the class of shares that includes that share increases because of the issue of that share; and

“485.31 Where the consideration given by a corporation to another person for the settlement at any time of a distress preferred share that was issued by the corporation and owned immediately before that time by the other person includes a commercial debt obligation issued by the corporation to the other person, sections 485 to 485.18 apply with reference to the following rules:

(a) the amount paid at that time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the share because of the issue of that obligation is deemed to be equal to the principal amount of the obligation; and

(b) the amount for which the obligation was issued is deemed to be equal to its principal amount.

Deemed settlement
on expiry of term

“485.34 Where at any time a distress preferred share becomes a share that is not a distress preferred share, sections 485 to 485.18 apply with reference to the following rules:

(a) the share is deemed to have been settled immediately before that time; and

(b) a payment equal to the fair market value of the share at that time is deemed to have been made immediately before that time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the share.

(2) where an amount would, if the disposition referred to in subparagraph i were a disposition for the purposes of sections 48 to 58 or 218 to 220, be included under those sections as a result of the disposition in computing the income of the elector, the lesser of the elector's proceeds of disposition of the property determined under subparagraph i, and the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B,$$

(3) in any other case, the lesser of the amount designated in respect of the capital property in the election, and the amount by which the fair market value of the property at that time exceeds the amount determined by the formula

$$C - 1.1D;$$

(b) a business carried on by the elector, otherwise than as a member of a partnership, on 22 February 1994,

i. the amount that would be determined under subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 105 at the end of 22 February 1994 in respect of the elector if the fiscal period of the business ended at that time and all the intangible capital property owned at that time by the elector in respect of the business were disposed of by the elector immediately before that time for proceeds of disposition equal to the amount designated in the election in respect of the business is deemed to be a taxable capital gain of the elector for the taxation year in which the fiscal period of the business that includes that time ends from the disposition of a particular property, and

ii. for the purposes of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 106.1, the amount of the taxable capital gain determined under subparagraph i is deemed to have been claimed, by a person who does not deal at arm's length with each particular person or partnership that does not deal at arm's length with the elector, as a deduction under this Title in respect of a disposition at that time of the intangible capital property; and

(c) an interest owned at the end of 22 February 1994 by the elector in a trust referred to in any of paragraphs b to f of the definition of "flow-through entity" in the first paragraph of section

251.1, the elector is deemed to have a capital gain for the year from the disposition on 22 February 1994 of property equal to the lesser of

i. the total of amounts designated in elections made under this section by the elector in respect of interests in the trust, and

ii. $\frac{4}{3}$ of the amount that would, if all of the trust's capital properties were disposed of at the end of 22 February 1994 for proceeds of disposition equal to their fair market value at that time and that portion of the trust's capital gains and capital losses or its net taxable capital gains, as the case may be, arising from the dispositions as can reasonably be considered to represent the elector's share thereof were allocated to or designated in respect of the elector, be the increase in the annual gains limit of the elector for the 1994 taxation year as a result of the dispositions.

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formulas in subparagraphs 2 and 3 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount by which the fair market value of the capital property at the end of 22 February 1994 exceeds the amount that would, if the disposition referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the first paragraph were a disposition for the purposes of sections 48 to 58 or 218 to 220, be included under those sections as a result of the disposition in computing the income of the elector; and

(b) B is the amount that would be determined by the formula in subparagraph 3 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph in respect of the capital property if that subparagraph 3 applied to the property; and

(c) C is the amount designated in respect of the capital property in the election; and

(d) D is the fair market value of the capital property at the end of 22 February 1994.

Deemed time of disposition

For the purposes of this Title, the elector is deemed to have disposed of the particular property referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the first paragraph at the end of 22 February 1994.

Application of s. 726.9.2

"726.9.3 Section 726.9.2 applies to a property or to a business of an elector only if

(a) where the elector is an individual, other than a trust,

i. its application to all of the properties in respect of which elections were made under that section by the elector or a spouse of the elector and to all the businesses in respect of which elections were made under that section by the elector

(1) would result in an increase in the amount deductible under section 726.8 in computing the taxable income of the elector or a spouse of the elector, and

(2) in respect of each of the taxation years 1994 and 1995, where no part of the taxable capital gain resulting from an election by the elector is included in computing the income of a spouse of the elector, would not result in the amount determined under paragraph a of section 726.8 for the year in respect of the elector being exceeded by the lesser of the amounts determined under paragraphs b and c of section 726.8 for the year in respect of the elector, and where no part of the taxable capital gain resulting from an election by the elector is included in computing the income of the elector, would not result in the amount determined under paragraph a of section 726.8 for the year in respect of a spouse of the elector being exceeded by the lesser of the amounts determined under paragraphs b and c of section 726.8 for the year in respect of the spouse,

ii. the amount designated in the election in respect of the property exceeds 11/10 of its fair market value at the end of 22 February 1994, or

iii. the amount designated in the election in respect of the business is $1.00 or exceeds 11/10 of the fair market value at the end of 22 February 1994 of all the intangible capital property owned at that time by the elector in respect of the business; and

(b) where the elector is a personal trust, its application to all of the properties in respect of which an election was made under that section 726.9.2 by the elector would result in

i. an increase in the amount deemed by section 668.1 to be a taxable capital gain of an individual, other than a trust, who was a beneficiary under the trust at the end of 22 February 1994 and resident in Canada at any time in the individual's taxation year in which the trust's taxation year that includes that day ends, or

ii. where section 726.19 applies to the trust for the trust's taxation year that includes 22 February 1994, an increase in the amount deductible under that section in computing the trust's taxable income for that year.

Effect of election on non-qualifying
immovable property

"726.9.4 Where an elector is deemed by section 726.9.2 to have disposed of a non-qualifying immovable property,

(a) in computing the elector's taxable capital gain from the disposition, there shall be deducted an amount equal to $\frac{3}{4}$ of the amount by which the elector's capital gain from the disposition exceeds the elector's eligible immovable property gain from the disposition; and

(b) in determining at any time after the disposition the capital cost to the elector of the property, where it is a depreciable property, and the adjusted cost base to the elector of the property in any other case, other than where the property was at the end of 22 February 1994 an interest in or a share of the capital stock of a flow-through entity within the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 251.1, there shall be deducted $\frac{4}{3}$ of the amount determined under paragraph a in respect of the property.

Adjusted cost base

"726.9.5 Where an elector is deemed by subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.9.2 to have reacquired a property, there shall be deducted in computing the adjusted cost base to the elector of the property at any time after the reacquisition the amount by which

(a) the amount by which the amount designated in the election under section 726.9.2 in respect of the property exceeds the product obtained by multiplying 1.1 by the fair market value of the property at the end of 22 February 1994, exceeds

(b) where the property is an interest in or a share of the capital stock of a flow-through entity, within the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 251.1, $\frac{4}{3}$ of the taxable capital gain that would have resulted from the election if the amount designated in the election were equal to the fair market value of the property at the end of 22 February 1994 and, in any other case, the fair market value of the property at the end of 22 February 1994.

Disposition of partnership interest

"726.9.6 Where an elector is deemed by section 726.9.2 to have disposed of an interest in a partnership, in computing the adjusted cost base to the elector of the interest immediately before the disposition

(a) there shall be added the amount determined by the formula

$$(A - B) \times \frac{C}{D} + E; \text{ and}$$

(b) there shall be deducted the amount determined by the formula

$$(B - A) \times \frac{C}{D} - E.$$

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formulas in subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the elector's share of the partnership's income, other than a taxable capital gain from the disposition of a property, from a source in Canada or from sources in another place for its fiscal period that includes 22 February 1994, in this paragraph referred to as the "particular period";

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the elector's share of the partnership's loss, other than an allowable capital loss from the disposition of a property, from a source in Canada or from sources in another place for the particular period;

(c) C is the number of days in the period that begins the first day of the particular period and ends on 22 February 1994;

(d) D is the number of days in the particular period; and

(e) E is 4/3 of the amount that would be determined under paragraph b of section 28 in computing the elector's income for the taxation year in which the particular period ends if the elector had no taxable capital gains or allowable capital losses other than those arising from dispositions of property by the partnership that occurred before 23 February 1994.

Time for election

"726.9.7 An election made under section 726.9.2 shall be filed with the Minister

(a) where the elector is an individual, other than a trust,

i. if the election is in respect of a business of the elector, on or before the day on or before which the individual is required to file

his fiscal return under section 1000 for the taxation year in which the fiscal period of the business that includes 22 February 1994 ends, and

ii. in any other case, on or before the day on or before which the individual is required to file his fiscal return under section 1000 for the taxation year 1994; and

(b) where the elector is a personal trust, on or before 31 March of the calendar year following the calendar year in which the taxation year of the trust that includes 22 February 1994 ends.

Revocation of election

“726.9.8 Subject to section 726.9.11, an elector may revoke an election made under section 726.9.2 by filing a written notice of the revocation with the Minister on or before 31 December 1997.

Late election

“726.9.9 Where an election made under section 726.9.2 is filed with the Minister after the time prescribed in section 726.9.7, it is deemed for the purposes of this Title, except section 726.9.12, to have been filed within the time prescribed if it is filed within two years after the expiry of the time limit and if an estimate of the penalty under section 726.9.12 is paid by the elector.

Amended election

“726.9.10 Subject to section 726.9.11, an election made under section 726.9.2 in respect of a property or a business is deemed to be amended and the election, as amended, is deemed to have been filed within the time prescribed in section 726.9.7 if an amended election in prescribed form in respect of the property or the business is filed with the Minister on or before 31 December 1997 and an estimate of the penalty under section 726.9.12 is paid by the elector.

Election that cannot be revoked or amended

“726.9.11 An election made under section 726.9.2 cannot be revoked or amended where the amount designated in the election exceeds 11/10 of, if the election is in respect of a property, the fair market value of the property at the end of 22 February 1994, and, if the election is in respect of a business, the fair market value at the end of 22 February 1994 of all the intangible capital property owned at that time by the elector in respect of the business.

Amount of penalty

“726.9.12 The penalty in respect of an election to which section 726.9.9 or 726.9.10 applies is the amount determined by the formula

$$\frac{A \times B}{300}.$$

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the number of months each of which is a month all or part of which is during the period that begins the day after the expiry of the time prescribed in section 726.9.7 and ends the day the election to which section 726.9.9 applies or the amended election to which section 726.9.10 applies, as the case may be, is filed with the Minister; and

(b) B is the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxable capital gain of the elector or a spouse of the elector that results from the application of section 726.9.2 to the property or the business in respect of which the election is made exceeds, where section 726.9.10 applies to the election, the aggregate of all amounts each of which would, if this Act were read without reference to sections 726.9.3 and 726.9.10, be the taxable capital gain of the elector or a spouse of the elector that resulted from the application of section 726.9.2 to the property or the business.

Unpaid balance of penalty

“726.9.13 The Minister shall, with all due dispatch, examine each election to which section 726.9.9 or 726.9.10 applies, assess the penalty payable and send a notice of assessment to the elector who made the election, and the elector shall pay forthwith to the Minister the unpaid balance of the penalty.”

(a) under paragraph c or d of section 21.26 or paragraph a or c of section 21.27, in determining the amortized cost of a debt obligation to the insurer; or

(2) as part of the series of transactions or events, the taxpayer who acquired the debt obligation disposed of property before 31 October 1994;

(3) it is reasonable to consider that one of the main reasons for the acquisition of the debt obligation by the taxpayer was to obtain a deduction because, as a consequence of the disposition referred to in paragraph 2, as the case may be,

(a) an amount was included in computing the taxpayer's income for any taxation year, or

(b) an amount was subtracted from a balance of undeducted outlays, expenses or other amounts of the taxpayer and the subtracted amount exceeded the portion of the balance that could reasonably be considered to be in respect of the property.

ii. an investment dealer, or

iii. a corporation controlled by one or more persons or partnerships each of which is a financial institution at that time, other than a corporation the control of which was acquired by reason of the default of a debtor where it is reasonable to consider that control is being retained solely for the purpose of minimizing any losses in respect of the debtor's default; and

(b) a trust or partnership more than 50% of the fair market value of all interests in which are held at that time by one or more financial institutions;

"investment dealer"

"investment dealer" at a particular time means a corporation that is, at that time, a registered securities dealer;

"mark-to-market property"

(a) a share;

(b) where the taxpayer is not an investment dealer, subject to the second paragraph, a specified debt obligation that

i. was carried at fair market value in the taxpayer's financial statements for the year, where the taxpayer held the obligation at the end of the year, and for each preceding taxation year that ended after the taxpayer acquired the obligation, or

ii. was acquired and disposed of in the year, where it is reasonable to expect that the obligation would have been carried in the taxpayer's financial statements for the year at fair market value if the taxpayer had not disposed of the obligation; and

(c) where the taxpayer is an investment dealer, a specified debt obligation;

"specified debt obligation"

"specified debt obligation" of a taxpayer means the interest held by the taxpayer in a loan, bond, debenture, note, obligation secured by mortgage, agreement of sale or any other similar indebtedness, or a debt obligation, where the taxpayer purchased the interest, other than an interest in an income bond, an income debenture, a small business bond, a small business development bond or a prescribed property.

Specified debt obligations that are not mark-to-market property

A specified debt obligation referred to in paragraph b of the definition of "mark-to-market property" in the first paragraph does not include a specified debt obligation of the taxpayer that was, or would have been, carried at fair market value solely because its fair market value was less than its cost to the taxpayer, or because of a default of the debtor.

Excluded financial institutions

"Financial institution", as defined in the first paragraph, at a particular time does not include

(a) a corporation that is, at that time, an investment corporation, a mortgage investment corporation, a mutual fund corporation, or a deposit insurance corporation within the meaning of section 804;

circumstances at an annual meeting of shareholders of the corporation, and shares of the corporation having a fair market value of 10% or more of the fair market value of all the issued shares of the corporation.

Rules applicable

For the purpose of determining under the first paragraph whether a taxpayer has a significant interest in a corporation at any time,

(a) the taxpayer is deemed to hold each share that is held at that time by a person or partnership to whom the taxpayer is related otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20; and

(b) a share of the corporation acquired by the taxpayer by reason of the default of a debtor shall be disregarded where it is reasonable to consider that the share is being retained by the taxpayer for the purpose of minimizing any losses in respect of the debtor's default, and a share of the corporation that is prescribed in respect of the taxpayer shall be disregarded.

Extension of meaning of "related"

For the purposes of this section, a person or partnership is deemed to be related to a person or partnership where they would be related if, for the purposes of sections 17 to 21,

(a) every partnership and trust were a corporation;

(b) subject to subparagraph c, all decisions relating to the conduct of a trust were made by majority vote of the beneficiaries of the trust, with each beneficiary having, at a particular time, a number of votes equal to the number determined by the proportion of 100 that the fair market value of the beneficiary's beneficial interest in the trust at that time is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the fair market value at that time of a beneficial interest in the trust; and

(c) where the aggregate that is referred to in subparagraph b in respect of a trust is equal to zero, the trust were not controlled by any person, partnership or group each member of which is a person or partnership.

year and before 1 May 1995, the taxpayer has a significant interest in the corporation, the taxpayer is deemed to have a significant interest in the corporation in the year and, as the case may be, in any subsequent taxation year ending before the time at which the taxpayer first had a significant interest in the corporation after the end of the year and before 1 May 1995.

Disposition of part

Where a taxpayer disposes of part of a specified debt obligation, this division applies as if the part disposed of and the part retained were separate specified debt obligations.

Definitions

“851.22.7 In this division,

“tax basis”

“transition amount” of a taxpayer in respect of the disposition of a specified debt obligation has the meaning assigned by the regulations.

Deduction in computing the tax basis

“851.22.8 The amount required to be deducted in computing the tax basis of a specified debt obligation at a particular time to a taxpayer is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

(b) the amount of a payment, other than proceeds of disposition of the obligation, received by the taxpayer under the obligation at or before the particular time in respect of an amount included by any of paragraphs a to f of the definition of “tax basis” in section 851.22.7 in determining the tax basis of the obligation to the taxpayer at the particular time;

(d) subject to section 838, where the taxpayer is a life insurer, an amount in respect of the obligation that was deemed by paragraph b of section 830, as it read, before its repeal, in its application to the taxation year 1977, to be a loss for a taxation year ending before 1 January 1978;

(e) an amount that was deducted under section 167 in respect of the obligation in computing the taxpayer’s income for a taxation year beginning before the particular time;

(h) an amount in respect of the obligation that was deducted under section 141 in computing the taxpayer's income for a taxation year ending at or before the particular time; or

(i) where the obligation was a capital property of the taxpayer on 22 February 1994, an amount required by paragraph b or f.3 of section 257 to be deducted in computing the adjusted cost base of the obligation to the taxpayer on that day.

Gain or loss from the disposition of an obligation

“851.22.9 For the purposes of this division,

(a) where the amount determined under paragraph c in respect of the disposition of a specified debt obligation by a taxpayer is positive, that amount is the taxpayer's gain from the disposition of the obligation;

(b) where the amount determined under paragraph c in respect of the disposition of a specified debt obligation by a taxpayer is negative, that amount expressed as a positive number is the taxpayer's loss from the disposition of the obligation; and

(c) the amount referred to in paragraphs a and b in respect of the disposition of a specified debt obligation by a taxpayer is the positive or negative amount determined by the formula

$$A - (B + C).$$

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formula in subparagraph c of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the specified debt obligation;

(b) B is the tax basis of the obligation to the taxpayer immediately before the time of disposition; and

(c) C is, where section 851.22.11 applies to the disposition, the taxpayer's transition amount in respect of the disposition, and, in any other case, nil.

Rules applicable to a disposition

“851.22.10 Where a taxpayer has disposed of a specified debt obligation after 22 February 1994,

(a) except as provided by this division, no amount shall be included or deducted in respect of the disposition in computing the taxpayer's income; and

(b) except where the obligation is an indexed debt obligation, other than a prescribed obligation, the first paragraph of section 167 shall not apply in respect of the disposition.

Inclusions and deductions in computing income

“851.22.11 Subject to section 851.22.13, where a taxpayer has, in a taxation year and after 31 December 1994, disposed of a specified debt obligation,

(a) where the current amount in respect of the disposition of the obligation is positive, it shall be included in computing the taxpayer's income for the year;

(b) where the current amount in respect of the disposition of the obligation is negative, such current amount expressed as a positive number shall be deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the year;

(c) where the taxpayer has a gain from the disposition of the obligation, there shall be included in computing the taxpayer's income for each taxation year that ends on or after the day of disposition the amount allocated, in accordance with prescribed rules, to the year in respect of the residual portion of the gain; and

(d) where the taxpayer has a loss from the disposition of the obligation, there shall be deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for each taxation year that ends on or after the day of disposition the amount allocated, in accordance with prescribed rules, to the year in respect of the residual portion of the loss.

Current amount and residual portion of a gain or loss

“851.22.12 For the purposes of section 851.22.11,

(a) the current amount in respect of the disposition of a specified debt obligation by a taxpayer is the positive or negative amount determined by the formula

$$A + B; \text{ and}$$

(b) where a taxpayer has a gain or loss from the disposition of a specified debt obligation, the residual portion of the gain or loss is the part of the gain or loss, as the case may be, that is not included in determining the amount B in the formula in subparagraph a in respect of the disposition.

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formula in subparagraph a of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the taxpayer's transition amount in respect of the disposition; and

(b) B is

i. where the taxpayer has a gain from the disposition of the obligation, the part of the gain that is reasonably attributable to a material increase in the probability, or perceived probability, that the debtor will make all payments as required by the obligation, and

ii. where the taxpayer has a loss from the disposition of the obligation, the negative amount that the taxpayer claims not exceeding in magnitude the part of the loss that is reasonably attributable to a default by the debtor or a material decrease in the probability, or perceived probability, that the debtor will make all payments as required by the obligation.

Gain or loss not amortized

"851.22.13 Subject to the second paragraph, where a taxpayer has, in a taxation year and after 22 February 1994, disposed of a specified debt obligation,

(a) section 851.22.11 does not apply to the disposition;

(b) where the taxpayer has a gain from the disposition of the obligation, the gain shall be included in computing the taxpayer's income for the year; and

(c) where the taxpayer has a loss from the disposition of the obligation, the loss shall be deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the year.

Conditions

The first paragraph applies only where

(a) the obligation is an indexed debt obligation, other than a prescribed obligation, or a debt obligation prescribed in respect of the taxpayer; or

(b) the disposition occurred before 1 January 1995, after 31 December 1994 in connection with the transfer of all or part of a business of the taxpayer to a person or partnership, or because of paragraph c of section 851.22.23.

“CHAPTER III

“MARK-TO-MARKET PROPERTIES

Inclusions and deductions in
computing income

“851.22.14 Where, in a taxation year that begins after 31 October 1994, a taxpayer that is a financial institution in the year disposes of a property that is a mark-to-market property for the year, there shall be included in computing the taxpayer’s income for the year the profit, if any, from the disposition and there shall be deducted in computing the taxpayer’s income for the year the loss, if any, from the disposition.

Mark-to-market
requirement

“851.22.15 Where a taxpayer that is a financial institution in a taxation year holds, at the end of the year, a mark-to-market property for the year, the taxpayer is deemed

(a) to have disposed of the property immediately before the end of the year for proceeds equal to its fair market value at the time of disposition; and

(b) to have reacquired the property at the end of the year at a cost equal to the proceeds referred to in paragraph a.

Mark-to-market
debt obligation

“851.22.16 Where a taxpayer is a financial institution in a taxation year that begins after 31 October 1994, the following rules apply in respect of a specified debt obligation that is a mark-to-market property of the taxpayer for the year:

(a) paragraph c of section 87 and sections 92, 157.6 and 167 do not apply to the obligation in computing the taxpayer’s income for the year; and

(b) there shall be included in computing the taxpayer’s income for the year an amount received by the taxpayer in the year as, on account of, in lieu of payment of, or in satisfaction of, interest on the obligation, to the extent that the amount was not included in computing the taxpayer’s income for a preceding taxation year.

Application

For the purposes of subparagraph b of the first paragraph, where the taxpayer is deemed by section 851.22.15 or paragraph b of section 851.22.23 to have disposed of the obligation in a preceding taxation year, no part of an amount included in computing the taxpayer’s income for the preceding taxation year because of the disposition shall be in respect of interest on the obligation.

Transitional rule in respect of non-capital amounts

“851.22.17 There may be deducted in computing the income of a taxpayer for the taxpayer’s taxation year that includes 31 October 1994 such amount as the taxpayer claims not exceeding a prescribed amount in respect of properties, other than capital properties, disposed of by the taxpayer because of section 851.22.15.

Inclusion in respect of non-capital amounts

“851.22.18 Where a taxpayer deducts an amount under section 851.22.17, there shall be included in computing the taxpayer’s income for each taxation year that begins before 1 January 1999 and ends after 30 October 1994 the prescribed portion for the year of the amount so deducted.

Transitional rule in respect of capital amounts

“851.22.19 Such amount as a taxpayer elects, not exceeding a prescribed amount in respect of capital properties disposed of by the taxpayer because of section 851.22.15, is deemed to be an allowable capital loss of the taxpayer for its taxation year that includes 31 October 1994 from the disposition of property.

Inclusion in respect of net capital gains

“851.22.20 Where a taxpayer elects an amount under section 851.22.19, the taxpayer is deemed, for each taxation year that begins before 1 January 1999 and ends after 30 October 1994, to have a taxable capital gain for the year from the disposition of property equal to the prescribed portion for the year of the amount so elected.

First deemed disposition of a debt obligation

“851.22.21 Where in a particular taxation year that ends after 30 October 1994, a taxpayer disposed of a specified debt obligation that is a mark-to-market property of the taxpayer for the following taxation year, and either the disposition occurred because of section 851.22.15 and the particular year includes 31 October 1994, or the disposition occurred because of paragraph b of section 851.22.23,

(a) section 157.6 does not apply to the disposition; and

(b) where the conditions set out in subparagraphs i and ii are met, there shall be included in computing the taxpayer’s income for the particular year the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount referred to in subparagraph i exceeds the aggregate of all amounts included under paragraph i of section 87 in respect of the obligation in computing the taxpayer’s income for the particular year or a preceding taxation year:

i. an amount has been deducted under section 141 in respect of the obligation in computing the taxpayer’s income for the particular year or a preceding taxation year, and

ii. section 92.22 does not apply to the disposition.

Property acquired on rollover

“851.22.22 The rules set out in the second paragraph apply where a taxpayer is deemed by section 851.22.15 to have disposed of a property in a taxation year, referred to as a “particular year” in the second paragraph, that includes 31 October 1994 and the following conditions are met:

(a) the taxpayer acquired the property before 31 October 1994 at a cost less than the fair market value of the property at the time of acquisition;

(b) the property was transferred, directly or indirectly, to the taxpayer by a person that would never have been a financial institution before the transfer if the definition of “financial institution” in section 851.22.1 had always applied; and

(c) the cost of the property is less than the fair market value because section 518 applied in respect of the disposition of the property by the person referred to in subparagraph b.

Rules applicable

The rules to which the first paragraph refers are as follows:

(a) where the taxpayer would, but for this subparagraph, have a taxable capital gain for the particular year from the disposition of the property, the part of the taxable capital gain that can reasonably be considered to have arisen while the property was held by a person described in subparagraph b of the first paragraph is deemed to be a taxable capital gain of the taxpayer from the disposition of the property for the taxation year in which the taxpayer disposes of the property otherwise than because of section 851.22.15, and not to be a taxable capital gain for the particular year; and

(b) where the taxpayer has a profit, other than a capital gain, from the disposition of the property, the part of the profit that can reasonably be considered to have arisen while the property was held by a person described in subparagraph b of the first paragraph shall be included in computing the taxpayer’s income for the taxation year in which the taxpayer disposes of the property otherwise than because of section 851.22.15, and shall not be included in computing the taxpayer’s income for the particular year.

"CHAPTER IV

"ADDITIONAL RULES

Becoming or ceasing to be a financial institution

"851.22.23 Where, at a particular time after 22 February 1994, a taxpayer becomes or ceases to be a financial institution,

(a) where a taxation year of the taxpayer would not, but for this subparagraph, end immediately before the particular time,

i. the taxation year of the taxpayer that would otherwise have included the particular time is deemed to have ended immediately before that time and a new taxation year of the taxpayer is deemed to have begun at the particular time, and

ii. for the purpose of determining the taxpayer's fiscal period after the particular time, the taxpayer is deemed not to have established a fiscal period before that time;

(b) where the taxpayer becomes a financial institution, the taxpayer is deemed to have disposed, immediately before the end of its taxation year that ends immediately before the particular time, for proceeds equal to its fair market value at the time of disposition, of each property held by the taxpayer that is

i. a specified debt obligation, other than a mark-to-market property for the year, or

ii. where the year ends after 30 October 1994, a mark-to-market property for the year;

(c) where the taxpayer ceases to be a financial institution, the taxpayer is deemed to have disposed, immediately before the end of its taxation year that ends immediately before the particular time, of each property held by the taxpayer that is a specified debt obligation, other than a mark-to-market property of the taxpayer for the year, for proceeds equal to its fair market value at the time of disposition; and

(d) the taxpayer is deemed to have reacquired, at the end of the taxation year referred to in paragraph b or c, each property deemed by that paragraph to have been disposed of by the taxpayer, at a cost equal to the proceeds of disposition of the property.

Deemed disposition
not applicable

"851.22.24 For the purposes of this Act, the determination of the time when a taxpayer acquired a share shall be made without regard to a disposition or acquisition that occurred because of section 851.22.15 or 851.22.23.

Property not inventory

“851.22.25 Where a taxpayer is a financial institution in a taxation year, inventory of the taxpayer in the year does not include property that is

(a) a specified debt obligation, other than a mark-to-market property for the year; or

(b) where the year begins after 31 October 1994, a mark-to-market property for the year.

Property that ceases to be inventory

“851.22.26 Where a taxpayer that was a financial institution in a taxation year of the taxpayer that includes 23 February 1994 held, on that day, a specified debt obligation, other than a mark-to-market property for the year, that was inventory of the taxpayer at the end of its preceding taxation year,

(a) the taxpayer is deemed to have disposed of the property at the beginning of the year for proceeds equal to

i. where subparagraph ii does not apply, the amount at which the property was valued at the end of the preceding taxation year for the purpose of computing the taxpayer's income for that year, and

ii. where the taxpayer is a bank and the property is prescribed property for the year, the cost of the property to the taxpayer, determined without reference to paragraph b;

(b) for the purpose of determining the taxpayer's profit or loss from the disposition, the cost of the property to the taxpayer is deemed to be the amount referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph a; and

(c) the taxpayer is deemed to have reacquired the property, immediately after the beginning of the year, at a cost equal to the proceeds of disposition of the property.

Debt obligation
acquired in rollover transaction

“851.22.27 Where, on 23 February 1994, a financial institution that is a corporation held a specified debt obligation, other than a mark-to-market property for the taxation year that includes that day, that was at an earlier time held by another corporation, the financial corporation is deemed, in respect of the obligation, to be a continuation of the other corporation, if it has not been so otherwise provided and, between the earlier time and 23 February 1994, the only transactions affecting the ownership of the obligation were rollover transactions.

Rollover transaction

For the purposes of the first paragraph, “rollover transaction” means a transaction to which sections 545 to 550.2 or 556 to 564.1 and 565 apply, or to which section 832.3 or 832.9 applies, other than a transaction to which subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 832.3 requires the provisions of sections 521 to 526 and 528 to be applied.

Superficial loss rule
not applicable

“851.22.28 Section 175.7 does not apply to the disposition of a property by a taxpayer after 30 October 1994 where

(a) the taxpayer is a financial institution when the disposition occurs and the property is a specified debt obligation or a mark-to-market property for the taxation year in which the disposition occurs; or

(b) the disposition occurs because of paragraph b of section 851.22.23.”

(2) Subsection 1, except where it enacts sections 851.22.14 to 851.22.23 and 851.22.28 of the said Act, applies to taxation years that end after 22 February 1994. However,

(1) where section 851.22.1 of the said Act, enacted by subsection 1, applies before 30 October 1996, the French text thereof shall be read as if the reference, in subparagraph a of the third paragraph, to “société d’investissement à capital variable” were a reference to “corporation de fonds mutuels” and as if the reference, in subparagraph b of the third paragraph, to “fiducie de fonds commun de placements” were a reference to “fiducie de fonds mutuels”; and

(2) where section 851.22.2 of the said Act, enacted by subsection 1, applies before 30 October 1996, the French text thereof shall be read as if the references in subparagraph b of the third paragraph to “droit à titre bénéficiaire” were references to “beneficial interest”.

(3) Subsection 1, where it enacts sections 851.22.14 to 851.22.22 of the said Act, applies to taxation years that end after 30 October 1994.

(4) Subsection 1, where it enacts section 851.22.23 of the said Act, has effect from 23 February 1994.

(5) Subsection 1, where it enacts section 851.22.28 of the said Act, applies in respect of dispositions occurring after 30 October 1994, except the disposition of a debt obligation before 1 July 1995 where

(1) the disposition is part of a series of transactions or events that began before 31 October 1994;

(2) the taxpayer who acquired the debt obligation disposed of property before 31 October 1994 as part of the series of transactions or events;

(3) it is reasonable to consider that one of the main reasons for the acquisition of the debt obligation by the taxpayer was to obtain a deduction because, as a consequence of the disposition referred to in paragraph 2,

(a) an amount was included in computing the taxpayer's income for any taxation year, or

(b) an amount was subtracted from a balance of undeducted outlays, expenses or other amounts of the taxpayer and the subtracted amount exceeded the portion of the balance that could reasonably be considered to be in respect of the property.

“DIVISION II.6.4

“CREDIT IN RESPECT OF MINING RECLAMATION TRUSTS

Part III.12 tax credit

“1029.8.36.52 In this division, “Part III.12 tax credit” of a taxpayer for a particular taxation year means the aggregate of

(a) all amounts each of which is an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}; \text{ and}$$

(b) in respect of each partnership of which the taxpayer is a member, all amounts each of which is the amount that can reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share of the amount that would, if the partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, be the Part III.12 tax credit of the partnership for its taxation year that ends in the particular year.

Interpretation

For the purposes of the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the tax payable under Part III.12 by a mining reclamation trust for a taxation year of the trust, in this paragraph referred to as the "trust's year", that ends in the particular year;

(b) B is the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts in respect of the trust that are included, otherwise than because of the taxpayer being a member of a partnership, because of section 692.1 in computing the taxpayer's income for the particular year exceeds the aggregate of all amounts in respect of the trust that are deducted because of that section 692.1 in computing such income; and

(c) C is the trust's income for the trust's year, computed in the manner prescribed in the second paragraph of section 1129.52.

Credit

"1029.8.36.53 A taxpayer, other than a taxpayer exempt from tax payable under this Part, is deemed to have paid to the Minister for a taxation year on the day referred to in section 1026.0.1 where the taxpayer is an individual, or in subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 1027 where the taxpayer is a corporation, in respect of that year, or that would be referred to in that section 1026.0.1 or in that subparagraph b, as the case may be, if the taxpayer had a remainder of taxes payable for that taxation year, on account of the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for that year, an amount equal to the amount by which the taxpayer's Part III.12 tax credit for the year exceeds the amount deducted under section 776.1.6 in computing the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the year."

(2) Subsection 1 applies to taxation years that end after 22 February 1994.

because of section 346.3 to deduct an amount under section 346.2 in computing its income for a taxation year because of the transfer or because of the transfer and one or more other transactions, the taxpayer is solidarily liable with the corporation to pay an amount of the corporation's tax under this Part for the year equal to the amount by which the fair market value of the property at that time exceeds the fair market value at that time of the consideration given for the property.

Corporation's liability

However, nothing in this section limits the liability of the corporation under any other provision of this Act.

Indirect transfers

"1034.3 Where property is transferred at any time from a taxpayer, in this section referred to as the "transferor", to another taxpayer, in this section referred to as the "transferee", with whom the transferor does not deal at arm's length, the transferor is liable because of this section or section 1034.2, to pay an amount of the tax of another person, in this section referred to as the "debtor", under this Part, and it can reasonably be considered that one of the reasons of the transfer is to prevent the enforcement of this section or section 1034.2, the transferee is solidarily liable with the transferor and the debtor to pay an amount of the debtor's tax under this Part equal to the lesser of the amount of such tax that the transferor was liable to pay at that time and the amount by which the fair market value of the property at that time exceeds the fair market value at that time of the consideration given for the property.

Debtor's liability

However, nothing in this section limits the liability of the debtor or the transferor under any provision of this Act."

13. In an enterprise where there are no predominantly male job classes, the pay equity plan shall be established in accordance with the regulations of the Commission.

When a collective agreement is being negotiated or renewed, the certified association concerned shall also ensure that pay equity is maintained.

44. A joint sector-based association, one or more employers' associations and one or more employees' associations, a parity committee or any other group recognized by the Commission, including a regional group, may, with the approval of the Commission, form a sector-based pay equity committee for a sector of activity.

45. A sector-based pay equity committee shall be composed of an equal number of representatives of employers and representatives of employees. The Commission shall lend assistance to the committee.

Mandate

46. The mandate of a sector-based pay equity committee is to facilitate the work of pay equity committees, or of employers in the absence of such committees, in establishing pay equity plans, by developing the following elements:

CHAPTER IV

PAY EQUITY PLAN

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Content

50. A pay equity plan shall include

(1) the identification of the predominantly female job classes and of the predominantly male job classes in the enterprise;

(2) the description of the method and tools selected to determine the value of job classes and the development of a value determination procedure;

(3) the determination of the value of the job classes, a comparison between them, the valuation of differences in compensation and the determination of the required adjustments;

(4) the terms and conditions of payment of the adjustments in compensation.

Gender-based discrimination

51. The employer must ensure that no element of the pay equity plan discriminates on the basis of gender and that all elements are applied on a gender neutral basis.

Comparison within the enterprise

52. Where more than one pay equity plan is being established in an enterprise and, within the scope of a plan, no predominantly male job classes have been identified, the predominantly female job classes to which the plan applies shall be compared with male job classes throughout the enterprise.

DIVISION II

IDENTIFICATION OF JOB CLASSES

Gender-based identification

53. The pay equity committee, or the employer in the absence of such a committee, shall identify predominantly female job classes and predominantly male job classes.

Identification by job characteristics

54. For the purpose of identifying predominantly female job classes and predominantly male job classes, positions held by employees which have the following common characteristics shall be grouped together:

(1) similar duties or responsibilities;

(2) similar required qualifications;

(3) the same remuneration, that is, the same rate or scale of compensation.

Remuneration

The remuneration in a job class is the highest rate of compensation or the maximum in the compensation scale applicable to the positions within the class.

Single position

A job class may consist of only one position.

Gender
representation

55. A job class shall be considered predominantly female or predominantly male if 60 per cent or more of the positions in that class are held by employees of the same sex.

Gender
representation

A job class may also be considered predominantly female or male if

(1) the difference between the rate of representation of women or men in the job class and their rate of representation in the total workforce of the employer is considered significant;

(2) the historical incumbency of the job class in the enterprise indicates that it is a predominantly female or predominantly male job class; or

(3) owing to gender stereotypes of fields of work, the job class is commonly associated with women or men.

JOB CLASS VALUE DETERMINATION METHOD

Selection of method

56. The method selected by the pay equity committee, or by the employer in the absence of such a committee, for determining the value of job classes must allow the predominantly female job classes to be compared with predominantly male job classes.

Focus

It must highlight the specific characteristics of predominantly female job classes and those of predominantly male job classes.

Criteria

57. The value determination method must take the following factors into account in respect of each job class:

- (1) required qualifications;
- (2) responsibilities;
- (3) effort required;
- (4) the conditions under which the work is performed.

Tools and procedure

58. The pay equity committee, or the employer in the absence of such a committee, shall determine the tools and devise the procedure to be used to determine the value of job classes.

DIVISION IV

IN COMPENSATION AND DETERMINATION OF REQUIRED ADJUSTMENTS

determination

59. The pay equity committee, or the employer in the absence of such a committee, shall determine the value of each predominantly female job class and of each predominantly male job class using the value determination method selected.

Comparison

60. The pay equity committee, or the employer in the absence of such a committee, shall compare predominantly female job classes and predominantly male job classes so as to value the differences in compensation between them.

Valuation of differences

61. Differences in compensation between a predominantly female job class and a predominantly male job class may be valued on an overall or individual basis or according to any other method prescribed by regulation of the Commission for valuating differences in compensation.

Overall valuation

62. Valuation on an overall basis shall be effected by comparing each predominantly female job class with the earning curve of all predominantly male job classes.

Individual valuation

63. Valuation on an individual basis shall be effected according to the job-to-job method of comparison, that is, by comparing a predominantly female job class with a predominantly male job class of equal value.

Multiple comparison

In applying the job-to-job method of comparison, where there are two or more predominantly male job classes of equal value but with different remuneration, comparisons are made on the basis of the average remuneration for those job classes.

Proportional
comparison

Where the job-to-job method of comparison cannot be applied to a predominantly female job class, its remuneration shall be valued proportionately to the remuneration of the predominantly male job class the value of which is closest to its value.

Exclusion
prohibited

64. No method of comparison may be used which excludes a predominantly female job class.

Flexible pay

65. For the purposes of the valuation of differences in compensation, remuneration includes flexible pay if it is not equally available to all the job classes that are the subject of the comparison.

Flexible pay

Flexible pay includes merit and performance pay and income from gain-sharing schemes.

Benefits

66. Where benefits having pecuniary value are not equally available to all the job classes that are the subject of the comparison, the value thereof must be determined and must be included in the remuneration for the purpose of determining differences in compensation.

Benefits

Benefits having pecuniary value include, in addition to indemnities and bonuses,

(1) the various forms of paid leave including sick leave, family-related and parental leave, vacation and holidays, rest and meal periods and other benefits of that nature;

(2) retirement and group protection plans including pension funds, health and disability insurance and other group plans of that nature;

(3) non-salary benefits including the supply and maintenance of tools and uniforms or other clothing, except where required under the Act respecting occupational health and safety (R.S.Q., chapter S-2.1) or except where the uniforms or other clothing are a job requirement, parking privileges, meal allowances, the supply of vehicles, payment of professional dues, paid educational leave, reimbursement of tuition fees, low-interest loans and other benefits of that nature.

Valuation factors excluded

67. For the purpose of valuating differences in compensation, differences between job classes based on any of the following factors shall not be taken into account:

(1) seniority, unless this factor is applied so as to discriminate on the basis of gender;

(2) an assignment of fixed duration, such as an employee training, development or orientation assignment;

(3) the region in which the employee works, unless this factor is applied so as to discriminate on the basis of gender;

(4) a shortage of skilled workers;

(5) red circling, that is, a situation where a person's compensation is maintained, following a reclassification, demotion or special arrangement for the handicapped, at its former level until the compensation in the person's new job class attains that level;

(6) non-enjoyment of benefits having pecuniary value by reason of the temporary, casual or seasonal nature of a position.

Adjustments

68. The pay equity committee, or the employer in the absence of such a committee, shall determine the adjustments required to eliminate differences in compensation.

DIVISION V

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF PAYMENT OF COMPENSATION ADJUSTMENTS

Terms and conditions

69. The employer shall determine the terms and conditions of payment of adjustments in compensation after consultation, where applicable, with the pay equity committee or with the certified association referred to in section 32.

Time limit

70. Adjustments in compensation may be spread over a maximum period of four years.

Instalments

Where adjustments in compensation are spread over time, the instalments must be annual and equal in amount.

First adjustments

71. The employer shall make the first adjustments in compensation under a pay equity plan on the date by which the plan must be completed or, in the case of an enterprise employing fewer than 50 employees, on the date by which adjustments in compensation must be determined.

Unpaid adjustments

If the employer fails to make adjustments in compensation within the applicable time limits, the unpaid adjustments shall bear interest at the legal rate from the time as of which they were payable.

Authorized extension

72. The Commission may, subject to the conditions it determines, authorize an employer who shows that he is unable to pay the adjustments in compensation to extend by a maximum of three years the period over which the adjustments are spread.

Resumption of payment

The Commission may, however, where it has reasonable grounds to believe that the financial situation of the employer has improved, order payment of the adjustments or determine new terms and conditions.

Loan

The Commission may, for such purposes, require of the employer that he furnish any document or information and that he report on any steps he has taken to obtain a loan from a financial institution.

Pay reduction
prohibited

73. An employer shall not, in order to achieve pay equity, reduce the remuneration payable to any employee holding a position in his enterprise. For the purposes of this section, remuneration includes flexible pay and benefits having pecuniary value.

Collective
agreement

74. Adjustments in compensation in respect of predominantly female job classes and the terms and conditions of payment thereof determined in accordance with this Act are deemed to form part of the collective agreement applicable to employees holding positions in those job classes.

DIVISION VI

Any required adjustments in compensation shall bear interest at the legal rate as of the time they should have been paid.
