EXPLANATORY NOTES

The purpose of this Act is mainly to amend the Act respecting end-of-life care as regards eligibility for medical aid in dying.

The Act allows persons suffering from a serious and incurable illness leading to incapacity to give consent to care to make an advance request for medical aid in dying so that they can receive such aid once they have become incapable. The Act prescribes the applicable rules regarding the content and form of such an advance request and establishes the responsibilities of the various resources that participate in making or implementing it. Furthermore, it determines the criteria to be complied with in order for medical aid in dying to be administered to a person who has become incapable of giving consent to care, in particular the criteria regarding observation of the clinical manifestations related to their illness that they described in the request. The Commission sur les soins de fin de vie is also given the function of overseeing the application of the requirements specific to advance requests for medical aid in dying.

The Act also allows persons who have a serious physical impairment causing significant and enduring disabilities to receive medical aid in dying, provided they meet the other conditions set out in the Act. Furthermore, the Act provides that a mental disorder other than a neurocognitive disorder cannot be an illness for which a person may make a request for medical aid in dying. In addition, the Act withdraws the end-of-life criterion from the criteria a person must meet to obtain medical aid in dying.

The Act makes other adjustments to the Act respecting end-of-life care. In particular, specialized nurse practitioners may administer continuous palliative sedation and medical aid in dying. It also provides that no palliative care hospice may exclude medical aid in dying from the care they offer or refuse to admit a person for the sole reason that they have made a request for medical aid in dying. The Act specifies that medical aid in dying may be administered elsewhere than in a facility maintained by an institution, in the premises of a palliative care hospice or at the patient's home provided the other place has been authorized beforehand. Furthermore, the Act prohibits promoting or advertising a good or service supplied in the course of a commercial activity by associating it directly or indirectly with medical aid in dying, as well as charging any amount related directly or indirectly to obtaining such aid. The Act also amends the composition and mandate of the Commission sur les soins de fin de vie as well as the rules concerning the information that must be sent to the Commission and how it may use that information and the rules concerning the communication of the information.

The Act amends the Civil Code and the Public Health Act to allow a nurse who establishes that a death has occurred to draw up an attestation of death and fill out the certificate of death.

Lastly, the Act makes consequential amendments to other Acts.

- Civil Code of Québec;

It is called an “advance request for medical aid in dying” or “advance request” where it is made in anticipation of a person becoming incapable of giving consent to care, with a view to an administration of such aid after the onset of that incapacity.

For the purposes of subparagraph a of subparagraph 3 of the first paragraph, a mental disorder other than a neurocognitive disorder cannot be an illness for which a person may make a request.”;

20. The Act is amended by inserting the following after section 29:

“§3. — Special provisions applicable to advance requests for medical aid in dying

“I. — Criteria for obtaining medical aid in dying

“29.1. In order to obtain medical aid in dying following an advance request, a patient must, in addition to making a request that complies with sections 29.2, 29.3 and 29.7 to 29.10, meet the following criteria:

(1) at the time the patient makes the request:

(a) be of full age and capable of giving consent to care;

(b) be an insured person within the meaning of the Health Insurance Act (chapter A-29); and

(c) suffer from a serious and incurable illness leading to incapacity to give consent to care; and

(2) at the time medical aid in dying is to be administered:

(a) be incapable of giving consent to care due to their illness;

(b) still meet the criteria set out in subparagraphs b and c of subparagraph 1;

(c) be exhibiting, on a recurring basis, the clinical manifestations related to their illness that they described in the request; and

(d) be in a medical state

i. of advanced, irreversible decline in capability, and

ii. that gives a competent professional cause to believe, based on the information at their disposal and according to their clinical judgment, that the patient is experiencing enduring and unbearable physical or psychological suffering that cannot be relieved under conditions considered tolerable.

For the purposes of subparagraph b of subparagraph 1 of the first paragraph, a person with respect to whom the cost of the insured health services they receive or may receive is assumed otherwise than under the Health Insurance Act due to their detention in Québec or due to the fact that they are resident in Québec and in active service in the Canadian Armed Forces is considered an insured person within the meaning of that Act.

For the purposes of subparagraph c of subparagraph 1 of the first paragraph, a mental disorder other than a neurocognitive disorder cannot be an illness for which a person may make a request.

“II.— Criteria and other provisions relating to making an advance request

“29.2. The patient must make the advance request for themselves, in a free and informed manner, and record it on the form prescribed by the Minister. The form must be dated and signed by the patient.

If the patient making the request cannot record it on that form or date and sign the form because they cannot write or are physically incapable of doing so, a third person may do so in the patient’s presence.

The third person may not be a member of the care team responsible for the patient and may not be a minor or a person of full age incapable of giving consent.

“29.3. A patient making an advance request must be assisted by a competent professional.

With the assistance of the professional, the patient must describe in detail in the request the clinical manifestations related to their illness that, when the patient has become incapable of giving consent to care and a competent professional finds that they are exhibiting those manifestations, must be considered to be the expression of their consent to medical aid in dying being administered to them once all the criteria set out in this Act have been met.

The professional must ensure that the clinical manifestations described in the request meet the following criteria:

(1) be medically recognized as being clinical manifestations that can be related to the illness from which the patient suffers; and

(2) be observable by a competent professional who would have to observe those manifestations before administering medical aid in dying.

“29.4. The competent professional providing assistance to the patient must

(1) be of the opinion that the patient meets the criteria set out in subparagraph 1 of the first paragraph of section 29.1 and that the request is being made in accordance with section 29.2, after, among other things,

(a) making sure that the request is being made freely, in particular by ascertaining that it is not being made as a result of external pressure;

(b) making sure that the request is an informed one, in particular by ascertaining that the patient has clearly understood the nature of the diagnosis and by informing the patient of the anticipated course of and the prognosis for the illness and of the therapeutic possibilities and their consequences;

(c) discussing the patient's request with any members of the care team who are in regular contact with the patient; and

(d) if the patient so wishes, discussing the request with the patient's close relations or with any other person the patient identifies; and

(2) make sure that the patient has had the opportunity to discuss the request with the persons the patient wished to contact.

“29.5. The competent professional providing assistance to the patient must notify them that the advance request, made in compliance with this Act, will not automatically lead to the administration of medical aid in dying. For that purpose, the competent professional must, in particular, inform the patient of the following:

(1) an eventual finding that they are exhibiting, on a recurring basis, the clinical manifestations related to their illness that are described in the request will not by itself suffice to allow medical aid in dying to be administered;

(2) the aid may be administered to them only if two competent professionals are of the opinion that both of the following criteria have been met:

(a) the patient's medical state gives those professionals cause to believe, based on the information at their disposal and according to their clinical judgment, that the patient is experiencing enduring and unbearable physical or psychological suffering that cannot be relieved under conditions considered tolerable; and

(b) the patient meets all the other criteria set out in subparagraph 2 of the first paragraph of section 29.1; and

(3) the possibility of withdrawing or modifying the advance request and the applicable terms and conditions for the withdrawal or modification.

The competent professional must be sure to provide the information required under subparagraphs 1 to 3 of the first paragraph in a manner that is clear and accessible to the patient.

“29.6. The patient may designate in the advance request a trusted third person to whom they entrust the following responsibilities:

(1) notify a health or social services professional who provides care to the patient due to their illness where the trusted third person believes

(a) the patient is exhibiting the clinical manifestations related to their illness that are described in the request; or

(b) the patient is experiencing enduring and unbearable physical or psychological suffering; and

(2) when the patient has become incapable of giving consent to care, notify any health or social services professional who provides care to the patient due to their illness of the existence of the request, or remind such a professional of its existence.

The patient may also designate in the request a second trusted third person who, if the first trusted third person is deceased or is prevented from acting, in particular due to their incapacity, or refuses or neglects to do so, replaces that third person.

A trusted third person may not be a minor or a person of full age incapable of giving consent.

“29.7. After the form has been signed by the person making the advance request or, where applicable, by the third person referred to in the second paragraph of section 29.2, the competent professional providing assistance to the patient dates and countersigns the form to attest compliance with sections 29.3 to 29.5.

A trusted third person who consents to being designated affixes their signature on the form and dates it.

“29.8. The advance request must be made by notarial act en minute or in the presence of witnesses by means of the form referred to in section 29.2.

If the request is made by notarial act en minute, the duly completed form must be annexed to the notarial act.

If the advance request is made in the presence of witnesses, the patient declares, in the presence of two witnesses, that the form contains the patient’s advance request, without having to disclose the contents.

The witnesses date and countersign the form.

No such witness may be a minor or a person of full age incapable of giving consent. Nor may they be designated as a trusted third person in the request or act as a competent professional for the purpose of administering medical aid in dying to the patient.

“29.9. All signatories of the advance request form must be in each other’s presence when they affix their signature. A signatory may, however, be present remotely where the technological means used for that purpose allows all signatories to be identified, heard and seen in real time.

“29.10. Every advance request must, to be applicable, be recorded by the competent professional who provides assistance to the patient making the request or, where applicable, by the officiating notary in the register kept by the Minister in accordance with subparagraph 5 of the second paragraph of section 521 of the Act respecting health services and social services (chapter S-4.2).

“III. — Withdrawal and modification of an advance request

“29.11. A patient who is capable of giving consent to care may, at any time, withdraw their advance request by means of the form prescribed by the Minister. The second and third paragraphs of section 29.2 apply, with the necessary modifications, to the withdrawal form for such a request.

A patient who wishes to withdraw their request must be assisted by a competent professional. After the form has been signed, the competent professional dates and countersigns the form to attest that the patient is capable of giving consent to care. The professional must make sure that the request is removed, as soon as possible, from the register referred to in section 29.10.

A patient may modify an advance request only by making a new advance request by one of the methods specified in section 29.8. The new advance request replaces the previous one as soon as it is recorded in the register in accordance with section 29.10.

“IV. — Processing of an advance request

“29.12. A health or social services professional who provides care to a patient having obtained a diagnosis for a serious and incurable illness leading to incapacity to give consent to care must, when the professional becomes aware of that incapacity, consult the register referred to in section 29.10.

If the register contains an advance request made by the patient, the professional consults the request and files it in the patient’s record, unless the request is already in the record. Furthermore, the professional must ensure that every trusted third person designated in the request has been notified of the onset of the patient’s incapacity.

The professional also informs the health or social services professionals who are members of the care team responsible for the patient of the existence of the request.

“29.13. A patient having made an advance request must undergo an examination by a competent professional when the trusted third person notifies a health or social services professional that they believe, as applicable,

(1) that the patient is exhibiting the clinical manifestations related to their illness that are described in the request; or

(2) that the patient is experiencing enduring and unbearable physical or psychological suffering.

The health or social services professional must inform a competent professional of the reception of a notice from the trusted third person.

The purpose of the examination carried out by the competent professional is to determine whether the patient is exhibiting, on a recurring basis, the clinical manifestations referred to in subparagraph 1 of the first paragraph and whether the patient’s medical state gives cause to believe, based on the information at the professional’s disposal and according to their clinical judgment, that the patient is experiencing enduring and unbearable physical or psychological suffering that cannot be relieved under conditions considered tolerable.

“29.14. If every trusted third person designated in an advance request is deceased or is prevented from acting or refuses or neglects to do so, the patient having made the request must undergo the examination prescribed in the third paragraph of section 29.13 where a competent professional, as applicable,

(1) finds, at first glance,

(a) that the patient is exhibiting some of the clinical manifestations related to their illness that are described in the request; or

(b) that the patient’s medical state gives cause to believe that the patient is experiencing enduring and unbearable physical or psychological suffering; or

(2) is notified by a person that they believe the patient is exhibiting the clinical manifestations referred to in subparagraph a of subparagraph 1 or that the patient is experiencing enduring and unbearable physical or psychological suffering.

A competent professional must, before carrying out the examination, take reasonable measures to notify every trusted third person designated in the request of the situation.

“29.15. The first paragraph of section 29.14 applies, with the necessary modifications, to a patient who did not designate a trusted third person in the advance request.

“29.16. If every trusted third person designated in an advance request is deceased or prevented from acting or refuses or neglects to do so, or if no trusted third person was designated in such a request, a health or social services professional who is a member of the care team responsible for the patient having made an advance request must notify a competent professional if the health or social services professional believes that the patient is exhibiting the clinical manifestations related to their illness that are described in the request or that the patient is experiencing enduring and unbearable physical or psychological suffering.

“29.17. The competent professional must, as part of an examination required by section 29.13, 29.14 or 29.15, have a discussion, where applicable, with the trusted third person and with the members of the care team responsible for the patient.

The professional records in writing the clinical manifestations related to the patient’s illness that the professional has observed, the other relevant information in connection with the patient’s medical state and the conclusions of the examination.

“29.18. After carrying out the examination required by section 29.13, 29.14 or 29.15, the competent professional must inform the patient who made the advance request, the members of the care team responsible for the patient and, where applicable, every trusted third person designated in the request of the professional’s conclusions.

The professional must ensure that the process for administering medical aid in dying continues only where the professional concludes that the patient is exhibiting, on a recurring basis, the clinical manifestations related to their illness that they described in the request, and that the patient’s medical state gives cause to believe, based on the information at the professional’s disposal and according to their clinical judgment, that the patient is experiencing enduring and unbearable physical or psychological suffering that cannot be relieved under conditions considered tolerable.

“29.19. Before administering medical aid in dying following an advance request, the competent professional must

(1) be of the opinion that the patient meets all the criteria set out in subparagraph 2 of the first paragraph of section 29.1 and the first paragraph of section 29.2; and

(2) obtain the opinion of a second competent professional confirming that the criteria that must be the subject of an opinion under subparagraph 1 have been met.

The second paragraph of section 29 applies to the professional consulted.

Any refusal to receive medical aid in dying expressed by the patient must be respected and it is prohibited to disregard it in any manner.

If the patient is exhibiting behavioural symptoms resulting from their medical state, such as resistance to care, the competent professional must, based on the information at their disposal and according to their clinical judgment, rule out the possibility that the patient is refusing to receive medical aid in dying. The professional must record in writing the symptoms that the professional has observed and the conclusions of the assessment.

“§4. — Administration of medical aid in dying”.

21. Section 30 of the Act is replaced by the following:

“30. If a competent professional concludes, subsequent to the application of section 29 or section 29.19, that medical aid in dying may be administered to a patient requesting it, the professional must personally administer it to the patient and take care of and stay with the patient until death ensues.

If the professional concludes however, subsequent to the application of one of those sections, that medical aid in dying cannot be administered, the professional must inform the patient requesting it of the reasons for that conclusion and of the other services that can be offered to the patient to relieve their suffering.

In the case of an advance request, the professional must also inform any trusted third person designated in the request and any health or social services professional who is a member of the care team responsible for the patient of the conclusion. Where the professional concludes that medical aid in dying may be administered, the professional must inform them before proceeding to administer such aid.

“30.1. An advance request does not lapse because a competent professional has concluded that medical aid in dying cannot be administered, unless that conclusion results from the refusal expressed by the patient to receive such aid.

“30.2. Where a competent professional concludes that medical aid in dying cannot be administered to a patient having made an advance request due to the refusal expressed by the patient to receive such aid, the professional must make sure that the request is removed, as soon as possible, from the register referred to in section 29.10.

“§5. — Management of certain refusals and of information or documents related to a request for medical aid in dying”.

22. Section 31 of the Act is amended

(1) by replacing the first paragraph by the following paragraphs:

“Any competent professional practising in a centre operated by an institution must notify the executive director of the institution, or any other person designated by the executive director, and, where applicable, send the executive director or the designated person the medical aid in dying request form in the following cases:

(1) the professional refuses a request for a reason not based on section 29 or section 29.19;

(2) the professional refuses to provide assistance to a patient in making an advance request under section 29.3 or in withdrawing such a request under section 29.11; or

(3) the professional refuses to carry out the examination required by section 29.13, 29.14 or 29.15.

The executive director of the institution, or the person designated by the executive director, must then take the necessary steps to find, as soon as possible, a competent professional willing to remedy the situation.”;

(2) by replacing “If the physician who receives the request practises in a private health facility and does not provide medical aid in dying, the physician must, as soon as possible, notify the” and “The physician forwards the request form received, if that is the case, to the executive director or designated person and the steps mentioned in the first paragraph must be taken” in the second paragraph by “A competent professional practising in a private health facility must instead forward the notice of refusal to the” and “The professional forwards the medical aid in dying request form received, if that is the case, to the executive director or designated person. The steps mentioned in the second paragraph must then be taken”, respectively;

(3) by replacing “in the second paragraph” in the third paragraph by “in the third paragraph”.

23. Section 32 of the Act is amended, in the first paragraph,

(1) by replacing “the physician” by “the competent professional”;

(2) by replacing “for the physician’s decision” by “for the competent professional’s decision”;

(3) by replacing “of the physician consulted” by “of the competent professional consulted”.

24. The heading of Division III of Chapter IV of Title II of the Act is amended by adding “AND OF THE DIRECTOR OF NURSING CARE” after “PHARMACISTS”.

25. Section 33 of the Act is amended by replacing “council of nurses” by “director of nursing care”.

26. Section 34 of the Act is amended

(1) by replacing the first paragraph by the following paragraph:

“A competent professional who provides continuous palliative sedation or medical aid in dying as a physician or a specialized nurse practitioner practising in a centre operated by an institution must, within 10 days following its administration, inform the council of physicians, dentists and pharmacists of which the competent professional is a member or, as applicable, the director of nursing care, whether the sedation or aid is administered in the facilities of an institution, in the premises of a palliative care hospice or at the patient’s home.”;

(2) by replacing “or its competent committee” in the second paragraph by “, its competent committee or the director of nursing care”.

27. Section 35 of the Act is replaced by the following section:

35. If no council of physicians, dentists and pharmacists has been established for the institution, the head of medical services or, as applicable, the physician responsible for medical care in the institution assumes the functions assigned to the council by this division.

If no director of nursing care has been appointed by the institution, the nurse in charge of nursing within the institution assumes the functions assigned to the director by this division.

The competent professional must then inform the head of medical services or the physician responsible referred to in the first paragraph or, as applicable, the nurse in charge referred to in the second paragraph in accordance with the first paragraph of section 34.”

28. The heading of Division IV of Chapter IV of Title II of the Act is amended by adding “AND OF THE ORDRE DES INFIRMIÈRES ET INFIRMIERS DU QUÉBEC” after “QUÉBEC”.

29. Section 36 of the Act is amended
